RAILWAY STRIKE IS ORDERED OFF BY UNION HEADS

Action Is Taken by Leaders of "Big Five" Brotherhoods Following Intimation From Labor Board That More Drastic Action Would Be Taken if Settlement Were Not Reached

PROMISE IS ALSO GIVEN REGARDING WAGE ACTIONS

Decision to Call Off Strike Reached by Some of Organizations Only After Stiff Resistance and Close Vote—President Lee, of Trainmen, Delighted Over the Result

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—The railway strike scheduled for October 30 was averted tonight, when leaders of the switchmen, trainmen, conductors, engineers and firemen, at a joint meeting, adopted resolutions withdrawing authorization of a walk-out, and officials of the railroad telegraphers' organization announced they would take similar action. These were the only unions which had authorized a strike.

The vote calling off the strike was unanimous by organizations, W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, announced. The official wording of the resolution adopted was that the "strike be declared not effective."

The vote in the individual unions was unusually close, however, the firemen particularly holding lengthy arguments before agreeing to cancellation of the strike order, the labor chieftains said. In some of the groups the ballot was described as "the closest in history on a similar question."

All of the differences were ironed out by the different unions, however, and the final show-down found all of them casting their ballots for "No strike."

Code messages calling the strike off, arranged in advance, will be sent out tomorrow morning, the union heads said.

SAANICH INSISTS ON RIGHT TO TAX

Municipality Will Go Ahead With Effort to Secure Legislation Authorizing Levy on Elk Lake Property

Receiving the reply of the city that it would not make a public park of the Elk Lake watershed property for six months, the Saanich Council last night decided to proceed with the placing before the Legislature of a bill to authorize the taxation of the land.

The city's letter, in answer to the notification by Saanich that taxation legislation would be sought unless the property was granted in perpetuity as a park, was classed by Reeve Watson as "somewhat discourteous, to say the least." It contained certain mis-statements, he said, which must have been made for some purpose. A city spokesman had asked, according to the press, pointed out the Reeve, why, if the Saanich Council favored the exemption of parks, it did not exempt Mount Douglas Park from taxation. This park was not fenced, asserted Reeve Watson, and the statement was dust in the eyes of the public.

The Reeve took up the statement made in the letter regarding generous treatment of Saanich by Victoria in the matter of providing water. The shoe was on the other foot, he declared. When Saanich had wanted water it had called for tenders, and the city's figure had been higher than that of a company which had put in a bid. Victoria was given the chance to put in a new tender and did so, securing the contract which had meant some $10,000 in found money for the city. If Saanich had treated the water question in the ordinary business way Victoria would not have secured any part of this sum.

Councillor Kingwell moved that the procuring of legislation to authorize taxation be proceeded with, and that a history of the Elk Lake watershed property be drawn up and given to each member of the Legislature.

"When the City of Victoria throws down the gauntlet I am quite ready to meet them," said Reeve Watson. "Are you ready for the question?"

The resolution passed unanimously.

VISCOUNT BRYCE CITES CANADA-U. S. PEACE

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Viscount James Bryce was welcomed home today from his American tour at a luncheon given in his honor by the English-Speaking Union. Minister of Education, Fisher, George Harvey, U. S. Ambassador, Robert E. Skinner, American Consul-General, and other prominent British and American officials were guests.

In his address, Viscount Bryce alluded to the "nervous and hope with which America anticipates the Washington conference." Citing the century of perfect peace between the United States and Canada, as a result of their disarmament agreement affecting 3,000 miles of boundary, he said such an agreement should be made world-wide, and declared that the Americans, with their disinterested viewpoint regarding old world problems, were capable of leading the way.

GET YOUR FRIENDS TO "GET A VOTE"

"If you are on the civic voters' list get your friends to 'Get a Vote.' Telephone them; put the matter up to them when you meet them on the street. They are laced by 'Get a Vote' cards in the store windows; they are appealed to in the press; and if they belong to a semi-public organization they probably are urged through that agency to become enfranchised. This campaigning should be backed up by personal solicitation of friend by friend. With the 'Get a Vote' idea a popular sentiment continually expressed, the slacker will find weak excuses drowned out by the people's cry for a more widespread fulfillment of civic duties, one of the most important of which is the exercise of the franchise."

MARK W. GRAHAM, President of the Kiwanis Club.

B. C. LOSES IN CASE OF DUTY ON ESTATE

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Privy Council today allowed the appeal of the Royal Trust Co. vs. the British Columbia Finance Minister, arising out of the amount of duty payable to that Province in connection with the estate of the late Sir William Van Horne.

The Finance Minister claimed $14,000. The Privy Council declared that the Minister's claim proceeded upon an erroneous basis, $1,832 being the correct sum payable. The respondents pay the appellants' costs, both before the Privy Council and the Supreme Court.

TROTSKY FINDS ARMY THINNING

Issues Warning to Communist Workers That They Must Not Desert—Says Victory Is Not Yet Won

MOSCOW, Oct. 27.—In an address today before a conference of political and educational institutions, Leon Trotsky, Soviet Minister of War, warned communist party workers that they must not desert the Bolshevik army for trade purposes.

"The Russian revolution has not won the expected victorious development," he declared. "The October revolution still is encircled by capitalists. The first workingmen's attack upon the bourgeoisie has failed. Now they are faced with the necessity of more systematic work to create a revolutionary party in every country."

"It is now possible for the bourgeoisie to consider relationship with us. They do not consider the Bolsheviks a deadly danger any longer. Owing to the change of economic policy we must work side by side with the bourgeoisie, therefore we are entering a period of peace and heavy work in which the Red army will not play the least part. It is wrong to think that the role of the Red army has ended. Desertion of the army by party workers must be stopped."

M. Trotsky said the Red army was being reduced steadily.

JAPANESE BOAT SINKS IN STORM

Fukui Maru Goes Down 350 Miles From Cape Flattery During Hurricane—All on Board Saved

SEATTLE, Oct. 28.—The Japanese steamship Fukui Maru sank 350 miles off Cape Flattery, Washington, at midnight last night, but all her passengers and crew were picked up by the freighter West Ivan, according to a wireless message received by the Harbor Department here early this morning.

The message said the vessel went down in a hurricane. Her position was given as 55 degrees 28 minutes North, 155 degrees, 27 minutes West. The Fukui Maru was bound for Seattle from Kobe.

The West Ivan was bound for Japan and will continue to the Orient, the wireless indicated.

Although the list of those aboard the Fukui Maru is not available here, she is believed to have carried few passengers.

PARTY CHIEFS HOLD MEETINGS

Mr. Meighen at North Bay Condemns Campaign of Villainous Abuse Carried on Against Him in Quebec

CROWD OVERFLOWS MEETING PLACE

Hon. Mackenzie King Objects to Course of Farmers' Party in Endeavoring to Gain Class Benefit

NORTH BAY, Oct. 27.—The opera house, which holds approximately 1,000, was quite inadequate to accommodate the crowd which gathered tonight to hear Premier Meighen, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment; Hon. L. P. Normand, President of the Privy Council, and C. R. Harrison, National Liberal and Conservative candidate in Nipissing county, in which North Bay is situated.

No arrangements had been made for an overflow meeting and so a number of people were unable to hear the speakers.

In the course of his speech, Premier Meighen dared his political opponents in Quebec to quote a single utterance emanating from him against the French-Canadians. The campaign of villainous abuse which was being carried on was absolutely unjustifiable, he said.

Whatever the methods of those politicians, I do not propose to follow their example among my own race," he went on. "My effort is, and shall be, to bring about union and good feeling among the races."

Liberal Leader

RUTTON, Ont., Oct. 27.—The Ontario speaking tour of Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, brought him into North York tonight, where he was met by a large crowd. He is expected to make his own at the forthcoming federal elections.

With R. W. E. Burnaby standing for the Farmers' interests, and J. A. Armstrong for those of the Government, there is every indication that a stiff three-cornered fight is to be staged and no easily-won honors accorded.

Speaking of the Farmers' movement, Mr. King said that R. W. E. Burnaby, his candidate in North York, was standing for class government. The movement, Mr. King asserted, was not in the real interests of the farmers themselves. If the agricultural interests were to secure legislation important to themselves, it was essential that they should be in good will of all classes, both town and country. To secure results, all must combine against the common enemy.

"I think it is an injustice to the farmers themselves," he said, "to have it appear that they are seeking special privileges through class rule."

That amounted to nothing more than Toryism, he said.

TAKE PRIZE ANIMALS TO PORTLAND SHOW

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Leading stockmen of British Columbia are trekking south to the Pacific international exhibition at Portland, Ore., November 5 to 12. Exhibitors whose animals are good enough to win at the Provincial Exhibition at New Westminster and at the Vancouver show will try conclusions with the finest in the West.

Wm. Shephard will show A. A. Crowe's famous sire, Wyoming George, the grand champion and gold medalist at the provincial fair this year. C. W. Oldfield, of Stevenson, is taking down five of the head of his prize winners—three heavy draft horses, and 8. Pray will show what the province is doing in light horses.

Stock judging by amateur teams is always a big feature, and this year the University of B.C. is sending two teams, which will compete with six other provinces and states in the big competition. It is under the direction of O. M. Plummer, and the nightly horse show is managed by A. F. Fleming.

Lumber Company's Loss

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 27.—Fire that destroyed the yards of the Rockland Lumber Company in St. Louis Park, a suburb, early today, caused a loss estimated at $75,000. Half a million feet of lumber, 730 tons of coal and four buildings belonging to the company were destroyed.

PROMISE OF DEBATE ON CENSURE MOTION COMES AS SURPRISE

BRITANNIA MINERS RESCUED FROM SHAFT

BRITANNIA BEACH, Oct. 27.—Two miners were rescued alive tonight from a shaft at the 2,800 foot level in the copper mines here, after exactly a week in their living tomb.

The men, Francis Patenaude and L. J. Craig, were working in the narrow shaft last Thursday evening when a rockslide closed the mouth of the shaft. A little food, a trickle of water and air from a tiny aperture near the top of the shaft kept the men alive while their work mates slaved day and night to remove the obstruction and set them free. The last boulder was removed at sundown today, and the rescue gangs entered the shaft.

Craig and Patenaude were in hospital tonight, and are reported to be doing nicely.

PAULSON RECEIVES SENTENCE OF DEATH

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Alexander Paulson, a young Russian, tonight was found guilty of the murder of W. F. Salisbury in a holdup here last April. He was sentenced to be hanged on January 25, the day on which his accomplice in the holdup, Allen Robinson, also goes to the gallows.

Paulson gave evidence in the trial of Robinson against his partner. In consideration of this the trial judge consented to recommend him for a pardon from the Secretary of State.

BOWSER CHARGES BEFORE HOUSE

Opposition Leader Alleges Government's Friends Profited Through Dealings in Liquor—Demands Inquiry

Demanding investigation by a select committee of the House into the allegations which, in his notice of motion adorning the order paper for the last session, he set forth in general terms, Mr. W. J. Bowser, K.C., Conservative leader, kept members of the Legislature on the qui vive yesterday afternoon when, in moving his motion, he made serious and specific allegations against certain of the political followers of the Government, including the present employees of the administration, of having profited in selling liquor to the Government.

One of the names mentioned being that of J. H. Falconer, a member of the Liquor Control Board.

Mr. Bowser asked the appointment of a select committee, composed of Messrs. Whiteside, Ramsay, Paterson, Crowe, and himself, "to inquire into all questions directly or indirectly relating to the above matters."

Premises Inquiry

The Opposition leader's request for an inquiry will be granted, Attorney-General Farris declared when he followed Mr. Bowser, and in a short while which he will continue this afternoon, he roundly criticized Mr. Bowser; alleged the latter was acting in collusion with the proprietor of the premises.

HON. R. B. BENNETT TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

Minister of Justice Will Come to Victoria to Speak at Dr. Tolmie's Initial Meeting—Liberals Meet Tonight

Hon. R. B. Bennett, K.C., of Calgary, Canada's new Minister of Justice, and regarded as one of the most powerful speakers in Western Canada, will open the Meighen campaign here in behalf of Hon. R. F. Tolmie. It was announced definitely last night at National Liberal and Conservative headquarters.

The date of the opening meeting has not been decided upon, but preliminary arrangements are being hurried along, and the committee expects to have something positive to work upon within the next few days. The organization is at present concentrating on the canvass being made throughout the city, and reports so far have been invariably satisfactory.

A general meeting of supporters of Mr. William C. Ivel, Liberal candidate, will be held tonight at the Liberal Club at 8 o'clock. Several local speakers will address the meeting.

Mr. C. W. Winchel, secretary of the National Liberal and Conservative Association, has written to the Rotary, Kiwanis and Gyro Clubs, asking their support in stimulating Federal registration.

Dr. Clark Candidate

REGINA, Oct. 27.—Dr. Michael Clark, former member for Red Deer, was the unanimous choice of a Liberal convention held at Regina today. Dr. Clark was not at the convention, but intimated to the delegates in a telegram that he would accept if the nomination was made unanimous.

Mr. Lloyd George's Announcement That Monday Would Be Given Over to Unionist Member's Attack on Irish Negotiations Is Unexpected—Marks New Critical Stage

IRISH DELEGATES HAVE SUSPICIONS

Said to Believe That Premier Has Adopted Course to Remove Trouble in His Party—Difficulty Over Ulster Is Most Prominent—Sinn Fein Party Convention in Dublin

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The announcement of Mr. Lloyd George today that next Monday had been allocated by the Government for a discussion in the House of Commons on the pending motion of a Unionist member, censuring the Government for conducting the present Irish negotiations, was taken as bringing the Irish issue to another critical stage. The announcement came as a surprise to the Sinn Fein delegates now in London, who indicated tonight they had expected that Parliament would not be consulted until there was a nearer approach to an agreement than hitherto had been possible. They have negotiated with Mr. Lloyd George believing him to be in a position to strike a binding bargain, and they expressed apprehension over the possibility that the forthcoming debate might enable him to modify his proposals.

Their view tonight was that nothing likely to happen in the House of Commons could better the terms obtainable by the Sinn Fein, but that, on the contrary, the debate might easily lessen these terms.

Ulster Difficulty

The Sinn Fein delegates appear to be suspicious that the Premier has been faced with trouble in his own party and that he thinks a debate in the House would be the best way of obtaining for himself a certain majority. Ulster is understood to present his chief difficulty, since he has pledged himself not to reduce the importance of the position of the Northern Parliament. He has been pressed from the start by the Sinn Fein delegates to rip up the Home Rule Act and reopen the Ulster question.

On the other hand, Mr. Lloyd George is urged by many Unionists, even those who approve his recent offer of Dominion status to Ireland, to permit the Northern Parliament to function. Although opened formally by King George, it still has no real power, and lacking funds, it cannot exercise most of the powers granted it. Although it was "a large administrative powers within its area, it still is administered from Dublin Castle, and its leaders are constantly denouncing officials there, particularly Arthur Cope, Assistant Under-Secretary for Ireland, as allies of the Sinn Fein.

If Mr. Lloyd George assents to facilitating the powers of the Northern Parliament, he risks a break in the negotiations with the Sinn Fein. Yet there is a powerful feeling in his own party in favor of leaving Ulster where she is, and he is not likely to alter his position.

Until after Monday's debate, the conference with Sinn Fein delegates will continue in more or less suspended animation, but both sides tonight expressed the view that the debate in the Commons may kill it.

Meeting of Committee

The Irish conference seems to have resolved itself into meetings of the small committee appointed to find a formula as a bridge between the negotiating parties. This is the method favored by the Premier in negotiations of an immediate and critical nature.

Mr. Lloyd George called a meeting of the committee unexpectedly today. Both sides are maintaining reticence, but it is believed that the chief subject of today's discussion was Ulster.

Another meeting will likely be held tomorrow, but after that there will probably be no meeting until the debate in the House of Commons, which will begin Monday, on the Irish question, is concluded. This is expected to give the Premier a solid majority vote for continuing the negotiations and justify him in ignoring protests of a small group among the Unionists.

A semi-official announcement made tonight of arrangements for the Premier's journey to Washington is considered a good augury.

Sinn Fein Convention

DUBLIN, Oct. 27.—The constitution of the Sinn Fein, now meeting in convention, was amended today to the effect that the Sinn Fein will hereafter give its undivided allegiance and entire support to the Dail Eireann, as the "duly elected Parliament of Ireland."

Eamon de Valera was unanimously chosen president.

Requesting representatives to leave the convention, de Valera said Irish question, "This is a meeting in miniature of the nation, and this is a critical time of the nation."

"We who are responsible for the nation's policy," he continued, "want to have a free expression from the representatives of the nation. I feel they would be hampered in their expression and that we should be hampered in giving the advice we have to give if anything we said should be open to misrepresentation outside."

The convention recalls the fact that the Irish peace negotiators in London, although plenipotentiaries, represent the organization. Ireland which controls the Dail Eireann and professes to have full republican faith. The delegates came from Sinn Fein clubs in every county of Ireland. It was officially explained that the conference was an adjourned one and that the gathering lacked significance.

LEADER ENTERS MORE OBJECTION

Hon. T. A. Crerar Again Refers to Statements Credited to Premier—No Alliance With Hon. Mr. King

STUBBEX, N. B., Oct. 27.—"This miserable campaign of questioning the loyalty of your opponents is worse than the Toryism of the middle ages," exclaimed Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressive party, in addressing electors of Royal constituency today.

Mr. Crerar was referring to statements attributed to the Prime Minister. "Our opponents," said Mr. Crerar, "must be very barren of argument if they have to embark on a campaign of that sort, as it shows they are fighting a losing cause."

Mr. Crerar took up first reports of a secret alliance between himself and Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal Party. They were Crerar said, part of the campaign of misrepresentation.

"From first to last," he added, "they are a tissue of misstatements—I was going to say a tissue of falsehoods—and that would not be too strong a word to use."

"What are the evidences?"

"Mr. King is being opposed by a Progressive candidate in North York; I am being opposed by a Liberal in my own division of Marquette. Does that look as though there was a bargain between Mr. King and myself?"

Mr. Crerar again challenged the Government to give the source of its campaign funds.

On the tariff question Mr. Crerar asked why the New Brunswick farmer should be called upon to pay more for his fertilizer and milking machine in order that a few manufacturing plants might be established here and there.

"What is the use of it?" Mr. Crerar asked. "Is it not a good thing to supply the farmer with a fertilizer as cheaply as possible and thereby help him to raise and sell a large crop?"

If one went down to the vitals of the question, protection was a form of state socialism, he said.

Premier Has One Opponent

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., Oct. 27.—Premier Meighen will have one opponent in the forthcoming election, his sole opposition being Harry Leader, of the National Progressives. A meeting of representative Liberals today decided not to put a candidate in the field.

Ontario's Timber Revenue

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—The province of Ontario will have obtained more money from its public lands in the fiscal year ending on Monday than it ever received in a previous year, the raising of timber dues accounting for most of the increase. When this year's figures are completed the revenue will almost reach four million dollars, or an increase of nearly 100 per cent in two years.

DISPUTE ABOUT RAILWAY WAGES

Representatives of Brotherhood and Companies Present Arguments Before Arbitration Board at Ottawa

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—That the recent agreement between the Grand Trunk Railway and its employees had no bearing on the present negotiations was the statement made at this morning's sitting of the Canadian National arbitration board by A. R. Mosher, representing the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees. The Montreal agreement with the Grand Trunk was placed before the board by F. P. Brady, of the Canadian National Railway, who said that one branch of Mr. Mosher's organization had signed that agreement accepting decreases in wages.

Mr. Mosher pointed out the clause in the agreement which provided for fifteen days' notice being given to reopen negotiations with the company. That notice was being given today by his organization, Mr. Mosher declared. "We are simply fifteen days ahead of them here," said Mr. Mosher, "for we have our negotiations already under way."

The chairman, Rev. E. N. Stuffer, Toronto, asked Mr. Mosher and Mr. Brady if they would give him a list of six or eight classes of employees who could best stand the reduction. Both declined to lay down any particular classes and individuals.

Mr. Mosher said he could deal with the matter only in a very broad way. Certainly employees that were receiving less than $125, on a monthly pay base, or less than 60 cents an hour, could not afford to stand reductions at the present time.

Mr. Brady argued that the company could not get along with smaller reductions than proposed in the schedule.

The chairman reminded him that such a statement could have no bearing on any award that might be made. Further, the board could force the company to accept the board's award.

Mr. Brady thought that every wage earner in Canada must be prepared to accept some reduction at the present time. He would not say who among railway employees could best stand this reduction.

There was considerable discussion on the wages paid to different classes of employees, particularly non-skilled workers, stenographers and similar classes.

The chairman pointed out that there were many inequalities, and that an attempt should be made to remove these.

EGYPT GRANTED LIBERAL TERMS

Basis of Present Negotiations Appears to Leave Little Control of Country's Affairs in British Hands

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Cairo correspondent of The London Times reports from trustworthy sources that the negotiations between the Egyptian Premier and the British Government have been conducted on the following basis:

First—In the future British troops to be confined to Port Said and the eastern zone of the Suez Canal.

Second—A British commissioner of the public debt is to be appointed.

Third—Egypt is to have the right of diplomatic representation abroad, but in all treaties, except commercial agreements, the British Government to have the right to be consulted.

Fourth—Alexandria to be a British naval base, with an international police force.

Fifth—The Anglo-Egyptian Sudan to remain as at present, with equal rights by both countries, and the saving of the Egyptian water supply to be guaranteed.

The agreement, if reached, the correspondent adds, will be submitted to the National Assembly about the middle of November.

SPANISH LEGION INQUIRY ASKED

Great Britain Applies to Spain for Permission to Investigate Reports About Ill-Treatment of Enlisted Men

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Great Britain has asked Spain to allow a British representative to proceed to Morocco to make an independent and impartial inquiry into allegations of ill-treatment by Spanish officers of British subjects who have enlisted in the Spanish foreign legion.

This announcement was made in the House of Commons by Cecil Harmsworth, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, in answer to a question by Earl Winterton. The latter asked if the Government was aware of the serious allegations made against Spanish military authorities by British subjects, mostly ex-service men, recently enlisted in the Spanish foreign legion, who claim that conditions of pay and service promised by Spanish consuls here have not been carried out. Earl Winterton asked further if the Government was aware that some of the British who protested were ill-treated, robbed and sent to Gibraltar, and that others who actually joined the legion had been kicked and beaten by Spanish officers.

Among the British subjects who enlisted for service in the British-Spanish forces against the Moroccans were a number of Canadian ex-service men, recently enlisted in the Spanish foreign legion, who claim that conditions of pay and service promised by Spanish consuls here have not been carried out. Earl Winterton asked further if the Government was aware that some of the British who protested were ill-treated, robbed and sent to Gibraltar, and that others who actually joined the legion had been kicked and beaten by Spanish officers.

Among the British subjects who enlisted for service in the British-Spanish forces against the Moroccans were a number of Canadian ex-service men, recently enlisted in the Spanish foreign legion, who claim that conditions of pay and service promised by Spanish consuls here have not been carried out. Earl Winterton asked further if the Government was aware that some of the British who protested were ill-treated, robbed and sent to Gibraltar, and that others who actually joined the legion had been kicked and beaten by Spanish officers.

JAPANESE NAVY MAY BE REDUCED

Minister Kato Says Limitation Depends on Agreement at Washington—Another Kato Is Quoted Differently

ABOARD STEAMSHIP KASHIMA MARU, Oct. 26.—(By radio to the Associated Press)—Japan stands ready to cut down her navy if the Powers reach an understanding at the forthcoming conference at Washington on limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions, according to Vice-Admiral Tomomaburo Kato, member of the Japanese delegation to Washington, which is traveling to America aboard this ship.

The vice-admiral, who is Japan's naval minister, made his statement in an address to the passengers. He declared that although he had been criticized as the man responsible for Japan's "eight and eight" naval building programme, and therefore loath to undo his work, yet nothing was farther from the truth.

Vice-Admiral Kato asserted that his position had been clearly outlined in an interview given to the Associated Press at Tokyo last year, and he made the claim that Japan was the first of the powers to definitely set a limit to which she was willing to cut her navy.

On the other hand, the Japanese delegate said, if no national accord is reached at Washington, Japan would stand and could not curtail her navy programme a single inch.

He said that he regarded the question of limitation of armaments as the paramount question to be discussed at Washington and that the Far Eastern questions, although important, were secondary to the armament problem.

Somewhat Mixed

TOKIO, Oct. 27.—The statement concerning the Japanese warship construction programme which Vice-Admiral Kanji Kato, member of the Japanese delegation to the Washington conference, is reported to have made on his arrival at San Francisco, has started Japanese naval authorities, according to The Asahi Shimbun today.

Particularly surprising, it says, was the dispatch which quoted Admiral Kato as saying:

"Japan's financial condition does not allow the Government to expend an enormous amount for naval armament. Consequently, the scope of the armament of the Japanese navy must be minimized, irrespective of the decision of the Washington conference."

Commenting today upon the alleged statement, The Asahi says:

"This is contrary to what is often declared by the Japanese Navy Department. The Japanese Navy Department maintains the principle that the Japanese Government should keep in harmony with the governments of other powers in connection with the problem of navy restriction, and carry out the principle on the basis of mutually rational limitation to be arranged among the powers concerned."

"Japan has no intention to minimize her naval armament independently and on her own accord."

There should be no misunderstanding in that connection declared naval authorities today, who were inclined to believe the "inconsistent statement" of the naval suite now in Washington must have been misconstrued on account of some mistake in cable transmission.

A. AND N. VETERANS SPEAK IN CONVENTION

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—When the unemployment situation was under discussion at the annual convention of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, delegates expressed disapproval of the system attributed to the British Government of awarding relief. Speakers understood the purpose was to dump British unemployed into the Dominion, and that course was characterized as unfair.

In order to support the soldiers who served at the Halifax garrison during the war and who were accordingly prevented from going overseas, a resolution was passed urging the Government to take immediate steps to grant them the same privileges and benefits as are enjoyed by men of the C. E. F., including general service and victory medals.

The British Columbia provincial command brought in a resolution opposing any amalgamation of ex-service men's associations in which distinctions be made in classes of membership, and suggested that any proposal for amalgamation should be on the basis of eligibility of all present members of the Army and Navy Veterans.

Of the total the Canadian Pacific handled 21,925 cars; the Canadian National 14,832, and the Grand Trunk the remainder.

The shooting followed attempts of Detective Eads and a companion to arrest the negro, whom they suspected of having committed a robbery.

The Vancouver Sun, whom he called "the names," and declared that many of the names mentioned by Mr. Bowser as having profited from sales of liquor to the Board (among them Mr. Farrie, own brother) were duly accredited agents of liquor concerns.

Mr. Bowser also charged that the purchase of the Campbell warehouse in Vancouver was wholly illegal, that one or two members of the Legislature had profited through the consent given by the Attorney-General for certain bonded liquor warehouses, and he charged activity of the general manager of the P. E. Railway in using public funds in behalf of the Government at the last election.

Mr. Bowser had not intended to go on yesterday with his motion, but the stage was cleared by the Government which, through the medium of Mr. E. C. Henniger, who adjourned the debate on the Address, cleared away that feature of the proceedings and brought forward the notices of motions. Hon. Mr. Farrie's remarks yesterday afternoon were designed to get the denial of the Bowser charges out to the public coincident with the charges themselves. The Attorney-General will go into greater detail in his statement this afternoon.

Pointing to the scandals in connection with administration of the Prohibition Act, scandals aired on the floor of the Legislature and on the public platform, Mr. Bowser declared that one official was sent to the penitentiary, Mr. Bowser declared that although the present Liquor Act had come into effect on June 14 and had more than four months elapsed, already there is every evidence that that same maladministration is being continued. As a result and in view of certain evidence which had come to his knowledge, he considered it to be his duty, as a man occupying an important public position in the Legislature and in public life, to move for a full investigation by a select committee of the Legislature.

The people by a majority of over 40,000 have clearly shown, Mr. Bowser held, that they were entirely dissatisfied with the administration of the Prohibition Act. Certainly they showed in the clearest possible manner that they wanted and demanded a change. They demanded a decent control and decent administration of the liquor law, they asked for a liquor at a reasonable price, as cheap as was consistent with a fair profit, but not an exorbitant profit.

Taking up his charges as forth in his motion and dealing with them in detail, Mr. Bowser referred to his first charge that the Government has purchased from a close political supporter of the Government without any justification, certain premises known as the Campbell warehouse, in Vancouver.

Price Too High

"I am not going into any long dissertation on the political morality of that transaction or on the action of the Government in assisting a friend, who had extorted campaign funds for its purposes," said Mr. Bowser, who held the price of $150,000 paid had been a most excessive one. He quoted from the evidence given in the recent Campbell-Gronis libel action in Vancouver, to show that there were plenty of warehouses at that time, available in Vancouver, and he argued that a business government, composed of business men, would never have paid such a price even to a political friend who, on oath, had stated that part of that amount had gone to purchase a paper to support the Government. He claimed that that purchase was entirely illegal. The B.C. Liquor Act provided that that measure should not come into effect until proclaimed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. On May 28 last the Cabinet declared that the act should become effective on June 15 in pursuance of Section 115. It was true that prior to that date the Liquor Board, with Mr. A. M. Johnson as chairman, and Messrs. Falconer and Winch as the other members, was appointed on April 12, and he presumed the authority for that was Section 8 of the Interpretation Act, but he quoted from that section to show that when an act does not come into force immediately upon being passed by the Legislature and gives power of making appointments, that power may only be exercised at any time after the passing of the act subject to certain restrictions. But under that Section 8 the Attorney-General, before the Liquor Act came into effect, made his appointments. He was willing to admit, for the sake of argument, that such appointments were legal, but when it came to the purchase of the Campbell warehouse, it was an entirely different matter. That purchase was made on May 1, and in the absence of the Premier. No vote of the Legislature was ever made or even was the purchase ever suggested to the Legislature.

Long before the Liquor Act became effective on June 15 negotiations were underway for the warehouse purchase. He quoted from a letter from Campbell to the Attorney-General which was introduced in evidence at the trial in Vancouver. It was the famous letter addressed to "Dear Wallace," and expressing the hope there would be no hitch in the negotiations. The letter set forth that the writer was handing to a Mr. Patterson data concerning certain charges against the premises.

"Who is this Patterson? He was the purchasing agent for this Government under the Prohibition Act, and, later, under the present act," said Mr. Bowser, who went on to quote from Campbell's letter and the hope expressed therein, that in respect of the decision reached there would be no hitch.

"What was the decision in respect of which there was to be no hitch? Campbell was to go East to arrange to purchase The World newspaper as a party organ, and he wanted no hitch. What would have been the proper course if there had not already been arranged in an underhand way a method of assisting a political friend? Why did the Attorney-General not go and come to this Legislature and freely and openly tell us he had negotiated a lease at five cents per square foot of space with the right to purchase in five years? But the deal was put through as silently as the grave. It would not be shown in the Public Accounts until those for the year ended March 31 next were brought down in the House."

Mr. Johnson Hays

Later on, continued the opposition leader, was found a most remarkable letter written on March 3 by Mr. A. M. Johnson, the chairman of the Liquor Board, to the Attorney-General. At that time the act was not in force, and Johnson was not in existence as chairman of the board even if, under the Interpretation Act, his appointment was legal. At that date he was still deputy Attorney-General, and the Legislature was actually in session. In that letter, the remarkable statement that the Campbell warehouse is the only six-story warehouse in Vancouver, the only one with double trackage. No more glaring mistake than that could be made, declared Mr. Bowser, who asserted that at that time, as shown in the evidence in the Campbell-Gronis suit, there were scores of warehouses of six stories in Vancouver with trackage available for purchase or lease. But Johnson even went further and suggested that as the rental for five years would cost $15,000, it was advisable to purchase for $150,000, a suggestion, Mr. Bowser supposed, of Johnson's chief, the Attorney-General, Campbell, was to grant an option of purchase as a term of the lease for $150,000 for premises which he had previously quit-claimed, said Mr. Bowser.

Pointing to the fact that there had been no vote of the Legislature for the warehouse purchase, Mr. Bowser quoted from the Audit Act to show that between-session outlays could only be authorized by special warrant, and no such warrant was ever obtained. He could not say whether any such warrant had ever been presented to His Honor, but certainly none had been issued, as proved by the report of the Comptroller-General just presented to the House. Then how had that $150,000 reached Campbell's pocket without authority? he asked. But a Government cheque had been issued for that amount, and for some reason not explained was handed to the Government collector in Vancouver by Mr. A. M. Johnson to be checked out of the account there into which the revenues of the Province were placed. Three cheques aggregating the $150,000 were issued by the collector and Johnson, in turn, covered the issuance of these cheques by endorsing over the $150,000 cheques.

"I want to know under what authority they issued that cheque and how such pressure was exercised upon the Comptroller-General that he allowed it to be issued, why Johnson did not turn the cheque over to Campbell or himself deposit it and leave the three cheques against it. If there was not something underhand or surreptitious, Johnson would have followed the course of any honest business man," declared Mr. Bowser.

Legal Means Ignored
True, there was another way in which such an expenditure could be authorized, went on Mr. Bowser, who referred to the fact that where the Comptroller-General refused sanction an outlay under certain circumstances, the Minister of Finance could.

upon written opinion of the Attorney-General that such outlay was legal, appeal to the Treasury Board, composed of certain members of the Cabinet, and authorize the issuance of the cheque. He had too much respect for the Comptroller-General to suppose he would have issued the cheque until an appeal was taken. But the Liquor Act was not then in force, so how could the Attorney-General give the opinion that it was legal? But even supposing the Attorney-General had given his opinion that the outlay was legal, the fact remained that the report of the Comptroller-General showed that not a single appeal had been made to the Treasury Board. So it could be taken for granted that either the Comptroller-General or someone else had illegally signed the $150,000 cheque.

"Why was it done? So that Campbell might get his money before the Premier, who was hurrying back across the Prairies, knowing what he had left behind, could get back and find that the horse had been stolen, that $150,000 of the people's money had gone to a party heeler. And yet the Premier had written a letter approving of that transaction," declared Mr. Bowser. "Is that not enough to show there is something to be investigated?"

Mr. Bowser, again referring to his resolution, declared he was prepared to prove that the Government had unnecessarily leased premises for administration and other purposes and is paying rentals to political friends for in excess of the real value. That applied to Victoria, where there are three premises, the Board's office, the Pither & Leiser warehouse and the liquor store. He claimed a too high price is paid for the warehouse where there is plenty of room for all three branches of the Board's Victoria business. Why, in view of the Vancouver case, had the Government not purchased the Pither & Leiser warehouse here if it is better to buy than pay rent? He supposed that had there been any newspaper in this vicinity the Government would have bought it would have been done. At Ladysmith executive rentals were being paid, and also at Nanaimo, he claimed.

Incompetency

Mr. Bowser charged incompetency in administration and pointed to the losses of liquor at the Vancouver, Grand Forks and Ashcroft stores, all cases which required investigation and he asserted many of the men in the liquor stores have police records, though undoubtedly many were men of high integrity. But in view of the nature of the business it was the duty of the Government to see that only men of integrity were employed, men of course, of their own party—he

URGES CONSIDERATION FOR SOLDIER SETTLERS

Member for Comox Tells Legislature of Difficulties Which Veteran Settlers Have Encountered

Pleading the case of the returned soldier settlers at the Merville settlement, near Courtenay, in his own district, Hon. Thomas Menzies, Independent member for Comox, continued the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne in the Legislature yesterday afternoon. He urged that the Land Settlement Board should show consideration to the soldier settlers by reducing the seven per cent interest charge asked by the Provincial Board to the five per cent collected by the Federal authorities, and that cheaper lumber should be provided for the settlers.

Mr. E. C. Henniger, Liberal member for Grand Forks, adjourned the debate. Mr. Henniger, who some months ago came to Victoria and announced his resignation from the Government, he was elected to support, and intimated he might move his seat across to the Opposition side because of its neglect of his district, expected to have something to say in criticism of the administration.

Mr. Menzies first dwelt upon conditions at the Merville settlement. In the Comox district, where the returned soldier settlers were in a serious plight by reason of their inability to meet the payments for their land, buildings and stock. The 14,000 acres contained in the settlement had been purchased by the Government at a cost of $5 per acre, but 6,000 acres of this total was found to be totally unfit for cultivation. The 8,000 acres had been subdivided into farms of fifty to sixty acres, with the exception of a section in the centre, which had been allotted for the purpose of housing the main population and the construction of stores, postoffice and schools.

Expensive Clearing
The clearing of this land had been under the supervision of Messrs. Hart and Jones, who were engaged on a five per cent commission. The clearing had been an expensive matter, having cost as high as $400 an acre, while, in certain sections, it would require an additional $100 an acre to put in a state of cultivation. The wrong system had been carried out. From an agricultural point of view, he averred, it was the worst strip of land that could have been selected. However, he continued, the land was cleared and to the passer-by it looked prosperous. The cost to date had been over half a million dollars to the Land Settlement Board. One hundred and fifteen of the farms are now occupied.

Of the land not cleared, stated Mr. Menzies, the Government had handed over the land to prospective farmers at a price of $7.50 an acre, even though it had cost the Land Settlement Board but $5.

Hon. Mr. Harrow rose to his feet and explained that with 6,000 acres of land it was only natural for the Settlement Board to charge more than $5 an acre for the good and in order to meet the original purchase price for the entire area.

Whatever might be the case, said Mr. Menzies, poor judgment had been shown by the Land Settlement Board in the selection of the land.

Regina Gunmen Sentenced

They pleaded guilty to five other charges.

COMES FROM DOORN; TELLS OF WILHELM

Mr. H. C. Van den Byllaardt's Mother Glimpsed War Lord at Night by the Light of Street Lamp

Doorn, Holland, has only one claim to the attention of Victorians. It is the home of the former Kaiser of Germany. Mr. H. C. van den Byllaardt, a resident of the Dutch town, arrived here yesterday on his way to Batavia via China and Japan, intending to join his brother there.

Wilhelm is still the Kaiser, as far as his attendants are concerned, stated Mr. van den Byllaardt to The Colonist at the Empress Hotel last night. The Burgomaster of Doorn, Baron Schimmling, is a friend of Mr. van den Byllaardt's father, an army officer, and after dining one night with the former head of Germany, he told how when the war lord entered the room where the visitor was, the butler announced "His Majesty the Kaiser."

The staff of Wilhelm continues to wear the German uniform.

The Hohenzollerns are closely guarded by the Dutch. He now lives in Doorn instead of at Ammerongen, occupying the House of Doorn.

In spite of the precautions taken to protect Wilhelm from public gaze, the mother of Mr. van den Byllaardt saw the German once since he came to Doorn, and it was only a fleeting glimpse. It occurred at the time of the former Kaiser's death. Wilhelm was taking his wife's body to the railway station in the dark of night and with the route closely guarded.

Through friendship with the Burgomaster, Mrs. van den Byllaardt secured a post along the road which led to the station and there she waited. A closed motor car drove past, and a street lamp just for a brief space lighted its interior, revealing the erstwhile war lord, wearing the spiked helmet and the uniform of Germany, and accompanied by some of his staff, also in uniform.

The residents of Doorn now take little notice of the presence of the ex-Kaiser in their midst, stated Mr. van den Byllaardt. He personally does not like the Germans as a people. Before coming to this continent he visited Berlin where, he says, the Dutch are again going pleasure-seeking. Not long ago he was visiting a German and found that he had still his uniform in his possession. He asked him why he kept them, why he did not dispose of them and the reply was that before many years had passed he would be wearing his uniform again, for Germany would once more be at the forefront of Europe.

Mr. van den Byllaardt was a cavalry officer during the war, but has been demobilized. After traveling on the continent he came to America, spending two and a half months in New York. He is delighted with what he has seen of Canada and states that if he had known what a fine country it was he would have arranged to spend more time in it. The young Hollander is bound now for Batavia, where he will join his brother. He has a desire to shake hands with the Prince of Wales, whom he hopes to meet in the Orient.

It is a case of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapiesin occasionally keeps this delicate and sensitive organ and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion, if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, easiest, most harmless and safe Diapiesin, which costs only sixty cents for a large case at drug stores. H. W. HART RETURNS FROM PORT ARTHUR

Local G.W.V.A. Delegate to Dominion Convention Advocated Immediate Amalgamation

"In spite of the fact that all the British Columbia delegates to the Dominion Convention of the Great War Veterans' Association recently held at Port Arthur strongly urged immediate amalgamation of all ex-service bodies into one returned soldiers' organization, the convention decided only on federation of the organizations with the instruction that the Dominion Command should get in touch with the other organizations with a view to ultimate amalgamation," declared Mr. H. W. Hart, delegate of the local branch of the G. W. V. A., upon his return to the city from Port Arthur yesterday.

Over 200 delegates from the branches throughout the Dominion were present at the big gathering, which continued from October 17 to October 22. The idea of the federation plan is to have one organization, in which each of the ex-service bodies retain their own identity and individuality, and would have representatives on a joint council, which would superintend the affairs of the federated associations.

Mr. Hart, the Victoria delegate at the convention, was instructed by his organization a month ago at a special meeting to urge for immediate amalgamation at the Dominion convention. This Mr. Hart did, although the delegates were practically unanimous for the federation scheme.

Amalgamation Resolution
The stand of the local G. W. V. A. branch on amalgamation was brought before the convention by the Victoria branch, who read the following resolution adopted by the Victoria organization a few weeks ago:

"Whereas the welfare of dependents of fallen comrades, and of all ex-service men and their dependents, is suffering from the lack of unity which exists, and

"Whereas the great and worthy objects of the G. W. V. A. can only be attained in part because of this lack of unity,

"Therefore be it resolved that the Victoria Branch of the G. W. V. A. instructs its delegates to the Dominion Convention to give heed to the call for amalgamation which is sounding throughout Canada, and without which the ideal for which the organization exists cannot be attained, and as the best interests of ex-service men and Canada herself depend upon unity and the true spirit of duty and comradeship, and that in the will, if amalgamation is defeated, sever its connection with the G. W. V. A. of Canada and work first to secure local unity and then to further its progress throughout the Dominion."

Fraternal Delegates
The Imperial Veterans, Grand Army of United Veterans and the Army and Navy Veterans were received as fraternal delegates at the convention.

Two representatives of these organizations were delegated by the Dominion Command of each to convene several days previous to the convention to discuss the amalgamation question. "They went into the matter very carefully," Mr. Hart stated, "and after the meeting that while his organization would not delete the political clause in their constitution for the sake of federation, that the political section would be dropped if amalgamation is achieved."

Mr. Hart pointed out that the convention passed a resolution requesting the Dominion Government to take a plebiscite among the returned soldiers as to the disposition of the pension funds. The day after the convention decided to pay their president an annual remuneration for his services, a move which, Mr. Hart said, was strongly opposed by the majority of the sixteen British Columbia delegates, who recorded their votes in opposition to the proposal.

Many resolutions were passed at the convention, including one respecting Oriental immigration. On this question a questionnaire will be sent to every candidate for Federal honors which requires him to state whether he is in favor of the continuance of Oriental immigration and of the prohibition to withhold from Oriental the right to lease or purchase property in Canada.

Pensions Department
The convention went in favor of the limitation of armaments or total disarmament and expressed the hope that the Washington conference would make decisions which would lead to such a change. Mr. Hart repeats.

A recommendation to the Government will be made that the pensions of widows be increased from 160 to 175 per month, while it is urged that she should receive $25 for her first child, $15 for her second and $12 for her third child. Further, the convention urged the Government to provide for those totally disabled by $120, which would include those who were lieutenants, non-coms and privates.

"Of the total pensions given, 97.5 per cent are paid to lieutenants and those under them. The bulk of the other 2 1/2 per cent is paid to captains, and less than one-half of one per cent of the pensions is paid to officers who are above the rank of captain," Mr. Hart stated. The pensions to the totally disabled as proposed by the convention would practically equalize the pensions for all ranks," he concluded.

SAN FRANCISCO BANDIT TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—The body of a young man with a bullet wound in the head, found in a vacant lot in a residence district today, was partially identified by W. W. Newham and William F. Fleming, postoffice clerks at the bandit who early yesterday morning shot and killed Frank B. Adams, a guard at the Ferry postoffice, and escaped with a pouch of ransom money.

Beside the body was found a forty-five calibre automatic pistol similar to that used by the postoffice bandit. Postoffice authorities are working on the theory that the bandit may have been a former employee of the post office here.

The pouch of registered mail was recovered yesterday afternoon a few blocks from the scene of the robbery.

BUSINESS MEN DEAL WITH UNEMPLOYMENT

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—Toronto business men are going to handle the unemployment situation next Winter. They are going to take the matter out of the hands of the municipal authorities as far as possible. This was decided upon at a meeting last night of the federation of Toronto business men's associations.

On the suggestion of Major W. K. Harris, a commission of prominent business men was appointed to deal with the situation. The aim of this commission will be to seek the co-operation of such bodies as the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Board of Trade and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in trying to secure suitable employment for every man in the city during the Winter months.

CANADIAN COLLIERIES MAKE NEW AGREEMENT

Mass Meeting of Employees Endorses Agreement Covering Working Conditions Over Two Years' Time

CUMBERLAND, Oct. 27.—At a mass meeting of the employees of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Ltd., held this week in the Athletic Hall, the agreed-upon contract was ratified between the employees and the company for the past two years was renewed for a similar period. The only change in the agreement was minor alterations in the men's favor.

Wages Fixed by Commission
The scale of wages has been regulated by the cost of living commission, which includes a representative of the men, a representative of the company, and the fair wage officer. The commission investigates the cost of living in the district every three months and regulates wages accordingly. This provision applies to the new agreement.

The negotiations for this agreement, which involved considerably over a thousand men, have been under way for some time, and that they were carried on and signed without any friction is a considerable proof of the very harmonious relations existing between the employees and the company.

To Mr. James M. Swage, general manager of the company, Mr. Thomas Graham, general superintendent, as well as to the general district superintendent, credit is due for the very fair manner in which they dealt with the large number of men employed. They are always willing, sometimes at great cost of time and money, to do all they can for the welfare of the employees.

Recently the company erected a large hall for the men at a cost of $20,000. They also made a new athletic ground, which is said to be one of the best in the Province, if not the best. The management gives every encouragement to sport activities of all kinds.

The negotiating of agreements, especially in these days of disturbed conditions, between a large body of men and a corporation is always attended with an element of anxiety to both sides, but in this instance this was reduced to a minimum. Cumberland is indeed fortunate in having such a state of affairs.

SUNSHINE AND SHADOW

Why mourn because the shadows still linger on the way?

The twilight always mellows
The parting blush of day
The crimson hues of sunset
Will freshen with the dawn
And all the glorious sunlight
Of the returning morn
Oft when the day is gloomy
E'er the morning shadows fly
A golden gleam at sunset
Will fill the western sky

Sp. weary child of sorrow.

Though life is fraught with pain,
Think not the sun of gladness
Will never shine again.

Wouldst thou live life in a dream
Each moment scatter free,
And every passing cloudlet
Turn its passing side to thee?

Such days would soon be tedious,
The organization is always a
Such pleasure soon be void,
The more of toil we go through
The more is rest enjoyed.

THIS WOMAN'S RECOVERY

Shows Remarkable Restorative Power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chesley, Ont.—"Before using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had terrible pains in my sides and was not regular. Finally I got so weak I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest half way up. I tried two doctors but they did me no good. I saw your medicine advertised in the newspapers and thought I would try it. I took four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and was restored to health. I am married, am the mother of two children, and do all my household work, milk eight cows, and do a hired man's work and enjoy the best of health. I also found Vegetable Compound a great help for my weak back before my babies were born. I recommend it to all my friends who are in need of medicine, and you may print this letter if you wish."

Mrs. Hattie J. L. R. No. 4, Chesley, Ontario.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without getting Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

SPEAKER PRAISES PREMIER MEIGHEN

Supporters of National Liberal and Conservative Party in Ward Two, Saanich, Gather—Captain Moore Talks

"Get on the voters' list, go to the polls on December 6, elect Mr. C. H. Dickie as your representative and return to power the safe administration led by the finest public man in Canada since Mr. John A. Macdonald died," was the keynote of a splendid address delivered last night by Capt. H. W. R. Moore, vice-president of the Victoria West Liberal and Conservative Association, at an organization meeting held in St. Mark's Hall.

The gathering was a most enthusiastic one, and showed that the district was lined up behind the Meighen candidate. Mr. J. Jones occupied the chair, and urged all present to go out and see that their friends got their names on the voters' list. The organization of the ward was then undertaken, with Mr. A. Jones appointed pro tem. president, Mr. A. Riddle as secretary, and an executive committee consisting of Messrs. J. Bird and Percy Scholes.

Wishes to Meet All Voters
Mr. Robert Clarke, campaign organizer for Mr. Dickie, reminded his hearers that only five weeks remained before the election would be over. He regretted that the candidate was unable to be present, owing to being in another part of his constituency. The speaker stated that Mr. Dickie would like to meet all the voters personally before December 6.

"No one minds working when there is victory in sight," said Captain Moore, after he had eulogized and congratulated the party in the Nanaimo riding upon the choice of their candidate. "The people of Canada are looking to the best party to lead them in these troublous times, and the administration that led us successfully through the war is the only Government to see us through the reconstruction period," the speaker maintained.

The speaker paid tribute to Premier Meighen as the biggest man of all the Colonial Premiers who attended the Peace Conference in London. "There is no one in Canada who can touch Arthur Meighen in political bravery, industry and ability," he said.

Scores King's War Record

Captain Moore referred to MacKenzie King's war record, and scored the Liberal leader for coming before the electorate and failing to explain why he was willing to desert the boys in the trenches during the critical hours of the war. "No government that has ever held office can boast of a better record than that possessed by the Meighen administration."

The speaker dwelt fully on the immigration problem, declaring that many Orientals came into Canada during the Laurier administration in term of office and took up fishing, settled upon the land, and in every business avocation found room for their development, and thus became an actual menace to the residents of the country. The present Government, he declared, has excluded Hindus and Chinamen from this country, and through this Premier has not renewed the treaty with Japan, and reserves the right to treat the Japanese as the situation warrants, he continued.

"Premier Meighen was responsible for the coming Washington conference," Captain Moore said. "He long-headed diplomacy and general knowledge mark him for a future that will be ushered in on December 6 next," the speaker concluded.

OIL VERSUS COAL

Engineering, London.

In the advocacy of the use of oil for industrial purposes there is a danger of insufficient heed being paid to the fact that oil supplies, at the best, are limited, and that practically all have to be imported. The more general use of such a fuel, even if the organization is possible, ensures regularity of supply in normal times, tends decidedly to aggravate, instead of to relieve, our economic position, in these days when our imports are in any case far larger than they ought to be. The oil interests are naturally anxious to increase the volume of their business wherever there is the prospect of a good market, for which neither we nor anybody else will blame them, for they have a very useful commodity to dispose of; but, with the balance of trade sadly against us as a result of having to draw on other countries for foodstuffs and sundry other necessities, it would seem to be most economical to reduce as much as possible our fuel imports, and to develop the use of home supplies, of which we are furnished with such ample native stores in the form of coal.

The improved and economical production and use of coal should, it would seem, in a country placed as we are, elicit far more interest and attention than is being devoted at the moment by the country generally to the use of oil. The latter is largely the result of a reaction following upon the unstable and uneconomical condition of the coal industry, though the fuel has inherent attractions of its own. Whenever these may be, or the advantage it possesses in tending to make us partly independent in times of labor crises, and in special cases, the purchase and use of oil cannot be regarded as the soundest policy for what must mainly remain, if we are to retain any position in the world at all, a coal country. Exceptional cases would, of course, embrace conditions under which greatly enhanced capacity may not be for a time required, an occasionally occurs with boiler plant which, with oil fuel, can be forced to far greater output, and that more quickly, than is possible with coal. Special advantages also recommend its use in warships and passenger liners, and so on. While recognizing these it is impossible to overlook the fact that oil has traded a good deal on our national distress. In order to press, not without some degree of exaggeration, its claims as a remedy for our trouble. Rather than place reliance upon this out-

VANCOUVER MAY HAVE BOXING COMMISSION

Vexed Question Concerning
Amateurs and Professional Leads to Discussion Without Definite Conclusion

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Vancouver may have a commission in the near future to regulate amateur boxing and wrestling, if plans discussed at the meeting of the British Columbia Amateur Athletic Union local board last evening are carried out. A committee, consisting of seven board members, was appointed to look into the situation and report on the advisability of forming such a commission. This body would be formed along the same lines as that which governs track and field athletics, namely, the Greater Vancouver Amateur Athletic Association.

After the routine business of the meeting had been transacted, the old question of professionals in one sport mingling with amateurs in another was opened up and discussed from all angles. Dr. Davidson, president of the British Columbia Amateur Athletic Union, read a report, the substance of which was:

"That the local board recommend to the B.C.A.A.U. that a resolution favoring the present law be forwarded to the annual meeting of the A.A.U. of C."

Goodman Accepts Offer To Play With Duluth

GOODMAN DECIDES TO PLAY WITH DULUTH

WINNIPEG, Oct. 27.—An offer from the Duluth Hockey Club extended to Mike Goodman, former member of the Winnipeg Falcons hockey team, which champions has been accepted. Goodman left for Duluth yesterday where he will play during the coming winter. It had been reported that Goodman would play with Philadelphia.

WITH ROD AND GUN

The old cock pheasant is beginning to get more wary these days. Although the rignocks are quite plentiful this year and all but the unskilled ones who have been out have had their efforts satisfactorily rewarded, the cocks are now becoming harder to find. Harried on the fields by the numerous early morning hunters, they are keeping more to the bush, and it takes a good man with a good dog to find them, especially in the wet weather, when they seem to fly very close and not move about very much.

The birds this year are all big and well-fed. As the season advances, however, they will no doubt begin to show a falling off in plumage. So many hunters and dogs have been out that they have given little opportunity to feed in peace where the feed is best.

Although a lot of pheasants have been shot in Saanich and Metcalm, reports would indicate that the birds are even more plentiful in the upland districts. Round Duncan they are said to be very plentiful, but wild. Good bags have been made by the hunters who have worked hard for their game.

The elusive blue grouse is not yet immune from the dangers of a dose of small shot. Few hunters have been out after them lately, since the pheasant and quail have provided a counter-attraction, but several hunters have reported seeing a few, and it is stated that they are still to be seen in good numbers in the Highland district, where they are protected this year. They seem to know where they are safe.

Fishermen Successful

While most of the sportmen have been confining their attention to the gun, a few piscatorial enthusiasts have been out after them lately, since the pheasant and quail have provided a counter-attraction, but several hunters have reported seeing a few, and it is stated that they are still to be seen in good numbers in the Highland district, where they are protected this year. They seem to know where they are safe.

Although the dark shooting so far has not been anything extraordinary, there have been some fairly good bags made. The stormy weather of the last few days has brought the fish up to the surface, and the sport has been a fair sport in certain districts.

Over in Yakima they are trying a new system of the way of an open season for pheasants. The season opens next Sunday and continues for three days. For the next three weeks thereafter pheasants may be shot on Sundays and Mondays only.

Limiting Hunters

A novel suggestion is made by the United States Department of Agriculture which would limit the number of hunters in accordance with the amount of available game. The department points out that this fall more than 4,000,000 persons have been hunting, and that the number of hunters has been increasing for some time. "The hunters," it declares, "may far outnumber the animals which are given season." Such conditions, it adds, "render inevitable the ultimate extinction of big game."

Continuing, it declares: "The department advocates a limited license plan for big game, based on annual estimates of game conditions in each district. This means that the number of big game licenses issued for a given area for one season would depend upon the number of game animals which it has been determined in advance can be spared."

While this policy appeals from a sportsman's standpoint and perhaps could be made to work out effectively, there is still another angle to the situation that is worthy of serious consideration. With 4,000,000 men in the woods and fields, the danger to hunters is extreme. Limitation of licenses also would render hunting less hazardous. Of the two reasons for a change, the latter is of even greater importance—particularly in view of the total of accidents, fatal or otherwise, in America during the hunting season.—Seattle Times.

MONTREAL STUDENTS WOULD ENTER TEAM IN HOCKEY SERIES

MONTREAL, Oct. 27.—The French-Canadian University of Montreal has made formal application to the Canadian Intercollegiate Hockey Union for permission to enter a team in the intercollegiate series this winter. A special meeting of the governing body for college hockey has been called to take place in Toronto on Saturday.

THE PERFECT REFEREE

The perfect referee should be omnipotent, omniscient, omnibenevolent, and perfect, so there is no perfect referee. The best referee is the one who makes the fewest mistakes. It is a good referee whose mistakes in a game can be counted on the fingers on both hands. Too much whistle spoils a game; too little has been known to spoil players. Where the sporting instinct is most evident, the faults of the referee are least noticed or commented upon.

MANY ENTRIES FOR LADIES' BASKETBALL

Thirteen Teams Already in and Several More Expected Before
List Closes on November 28

The ladies' section of the Sunday School basketball league will open on Tuesday evening, December 6, and all entries must be in on the preceding Tuesday, November 28. This was decided at a well-attended meeting of the ladies' league held last night at the Y.M.C.A. There was a large representation from the churches of the city and the following entries were received: First Presbyterian, four B teams and two A teams; St. Andrew's, one A team and one B team; A teams from the following churches: Belmonts, Fairfields, Metropolitan, Christ Church, Knox Presbyterian.

This makes a total of thirteen entries up to date, with prospects of several more before the season opens. Applications from the Y.W.C.A. and the V.I.A.A. were held over until a full meeting of the senior executive is held, at which a final decision will be made.

Competition will be very keen this year, as there are some very fast teams in both sections of the league. Provincial championships will be held at the close of the season, when both A and B sections will compete with the two winning teams in the Vancouver Sunday School ladies' league. Handsome trophies have been hung up for competition in both sections. Most of the teams are already practicing and getting into shape for the opening of the league, and it is expected that the class of basketball in the ladies' section this year will be much faster than in previous years. Games will be played on Tuesday nights at the First Presbyterian gymnasium.

SONS OF ENGLAND SOCCER LINE-UPS

The following teams will represent the Sons of England in their Soccer League games tomorrow. First division, playing against the Metropolitans at Beacon Hill: Hetherington; Tuckwell and Carmichael; Tappan, Wright and Harwood; Harper, Turner, Small, Davies and Walters; reserves, Cosier, Kennedy and Smith.

Second division vs. C.P.R. at Beacon Hill: Rhodes; Lamphers, McNeely, McSymple, McIntyre and Lewis; Dunn, Ford, Bryson, Blacklock and Shanks; reserves, Price, Oskenden and Holman. All players meet at the Victoria Athletic headquarters not later than 2:15 o'clock.

C. P. R. FOOTBALL

On Saturday the C.P.R. soccerites will do their best to take the Sons of England team into the top. Notwithstanding their having had a little run of hard luck in the games played so far, the C.P.R. football committee has worked hard to get the team going in good shape, and is very optimistic as to the future of the team. With Ernie Cull in the forward line on Saturday, the S.O.E. will have all they can handle to keep the ball away from their goal.

The game Saturday begins promptly at 3 o'clock, at the upper Beacon Hill Park grounds, and the following C.P.R. players are expected to be on hand at 2:45: Miller, London, Rutherford, Peters, Muir, Lewis, Obee, Lupton, Cull, McCarrison and Lee; reserves, Brindley, Rose and Sullivan.

A REAL BOOST

Suggested Christmas Programme of Outdoor Sport Would Advertise Victoria's Advantages

A reader of The Colonist makes the suggestion that since preparations are now being made for holding a four-car race on the Gorge course in Victoria between crews from the James Bay Athletic Club and the British Columbia University, Vancouver, during Christmas week, that the programme be extended to include also football and field games, as well as ice hockey in the arena on artificial ice, do show the diversified sports which may be played on the Coast while the rest of Canada is frozen up, and that moving pictures be taken for exhibition throughout Canada and the rest of the world. The sportsman who makes the suggestion has just returned from an extended visit to the East, and thinks this exhibition would be an education to people in other parts of Canada, at least, who show a wonderful lack of knowledge regarding the climatic attractions of Victoria, both in the winter and summer.

Prospects Are Bright for Successful Season in J.B.A.A. Basketball Schedule—Four Teams Will Enter

The Bays have about the largest membership of any athletic club in the city, and can now boast of over three hundred and fifty members, the majority of whom take a most active part in the sporting world. The House League will get under way early in November, and any member who may not have his name on the list or any outsiders are cordially invited to the association's rooms to witness the different teams in action. Prospects for a successful season are bright, and the executive of the club are doing everything in their power to make the games as entertaining and enjoyable as possible.

During the city championship the members of the Victoria Golf Club who are not taking part are granted the privileges of the Colwood course for October 30 and November 1, 2 and 7.

SHORTER HOURS

Those who are interested in political economy in its application to some of the doctrines advocated on labor platforms should know that Mr. J. H. Thomas has had the courage to expose one fallacy which has deceived and still continues to deceive many working men. We refer to the argument which is often advanced to the claim for shorter hours: "If men employed in a particular industry are compelled to work short time, there will be more for others to do." Speaking at a private meeting of the National Union of Railwaymen, Mr. Thomas is reported to have said: "The cry that shorter hours finds work for somebody else is wrong. The idea that by reducing hours of labor you give work to other people is as great an economic fallacy as ever existed." He added: "The railways today are faced with a competition that is colossal. We fancy that many another trade union leader shares the view of Mr. Thomas, but how few of them there are who would venture to agree with him on public platform. Those who have read George Borrow's 'Lavengro' will remember the celebrated dictum of the Man in Black: 'You may say in the dingle what you may not say in the public house!'"—Engineering, London.

THOMAS DUGGAN BUYS CANADIENS FRANCHISE

Widow of George Kenney Disposes of Interest in the Montreal Hockey Club for Handsome Sum

MONTREAL, Oct. 27.—Thomas Duggan, president of the Mount Royal Arena Co., announced tonight that his offer for the franchise of the Canadian Hockey Club has been accepted. The consideration was not made public, but it is stated the bid was in the neighborhood of $20,000. This was the amount asked on several occasions by the late owner, George W. Kenney, whose widow has thus disposed of the club.

Mr. Duggan said tonight that he would make every effort to have an ice plant erected at the Mount Royal Arena this season. Definite plans for the club for the coming season will be announced early next week.

The purchase of the club includes equipment, players' contracts and the franchise in the National Hockey League, of which Mr. Duggan will become a director.

REDUCES COST OF GOWNS

New Invention Enables Expert Dress-makers to Save Money and Make Finer Clothes

Better clothes—handsome frocks, suits, wraps and gowns—and for less than she has heretofore paid! Here is good news indeed for the women of today. Certainly the supreme desire of every woman's heart is to dress smartly and economically.

The announcement of the new invention by which this is accomplished comes from an authoritative source—the Butterick organization, originators of the paper pattern and the world's recognized authority on feminine apparel.

Like many other really great inventions, the Dettor—as it is called—is simple. So simple that the woman who is to make the gown or suit is it has not been introduced before. It is an adjunct to the Butterick pattern, enclosed in the pattern envelope and making that indispensable article a veritable mentor in the art of dress-making.

To begin with, the Dettor tells a woman the least possible amount of material she will need for the garment she is to make. The pattern envelope has always given directions of this kind, but they have necessarily been based on the ability of the average woman, not the expert, to "lay out" the pattern. As the Dettor gives "laying-out" directions by means of illustrated diagrams, one for each size, and suitable width of material, which are the work of a highly specialized expert, and yet so simple that anyone can follow them, the amount of material the pattern calls for is considerably less than ever before has been possible. In fact, the amounts to from 1-4 to 1-3 yards less and effects a saving of from 50 cents to $10 on every gown or frock.

Step by step, the Dettor directs the process of dress-making. "Fitting together," fitting, draping and finally "finishing" is made so simple a matter that even the inexperienced work with the assurance and skill of the expert. While the expert herself profits by the time she saves in no longer having to solve the problems already so ably worked out for her by the Dettor.

So simple indeed is the Dettor, in spite of the extraordinary service it renders, that experts who have been using patterns all their lives often find it hard to believe that this new invention holds anything for them. To counteract this wrong impression, the manufacturers maintain a corps of demonstrators whose business it is to convert the skeptical. Many are the interesting and often amusing incidents these demonstrators have to relate. Expert dressmakers who have scorned its aid, when challenged to lay out a pattern on the small amount of material called for by the Dettor have worked as long as two hours before acknowledging themselves defeated. Their astonishment may be imagined when the demonstrator lays out the pattern by the aid of the Dettor in ten minutes and often less.

LEMBACH IS WINNER OF DEWHURST STAKES

Favorite Beats Small Field in Big Race for Two-Year-Olds After Close Race

LONDON, Oct. 27.—E. Moore's two-year-old bay colt Lembach, by Lemberg-Miss Portland, today captured the Dewhurst stakes run at Newmarket-Hongkong from a small field of four.

Sir James Buchanan's Hebrides finished second, and Marshall Field's Treacle was third. The finish was a close one, with a head separating Lembach and Hebrides. Treacle was a poor third, five lengths in the rear.

Quotations on Lembach ranged from even money to 15 to 12 against; Hebrides was quoted at 6 to 4 against, and Treacle 10 to 1 against.

The Dewhurst stakes of 500 sovereigns for two-year-olds is run over a seven furlong course and is considered along with the Middle Park plate, which was run two weeks ago at Newmarket, the final and most conclusive test of two-year-olds. The winner of either these two races is generally established as the Winter Derby favorite, so the choice will be between Marshall Field's Golden Corn, winner of the Middle Park plate, and Mr. Moore's Lembach, winner of today's race.

SENSE OF HUMOR IN CHILDREN

Even the British Association has to take Mr. Charlie Chaplin into account these days. A crowded meeting of the Psychology Section heard of him during the reading of a paper on the sense of humor in school children.

The speaker was Dr. C. W. Kimmins, and in a description of some of his recent investigations he remarked on the extraordinary appeal which Mr. Chaplin made to school children. The reason for it he found in the fact that not only was there a continuous movement and change of action, but also Mr. Chaplin was breaking all social conventions and doing the very things children were forbidden to do. In spite of all competition, however, statistics proved that the Punch and Judy show was still the favorite with children in the infant schools.

Dr. Kimmins, whose address was thoroughly enjoyed, explained that his object in carrying out an investigation was to discover the nature of the material which at different ages caused amusement and provided laughter.

Experts we are not agreed as to the chief cause of laughter, but there was no difference of opinion as to the great physiological value of laughter. In an analysis of the results he had obtained, Dr. Kimmins said that cases of puns perpetrated by children under seven years of age were very rare, and many of the reported stories of misadventure and misunderstanding of the words used. As an illustration he quoted the classic instance reported by Sir Joshua Fitch, who asked some small children to write the Lord's Prayer, and afterwards came across such mistakes as "Harold by Thy Name" and "Lead us not into Thimmes station." (Laughter.)

The records of children of nine years of age showed a very great change. Boys and girls at this period were particularly interested in funny stories and jokes; riddles and plays upon words maintained their position at that age, but the popularity of the misfortune of others as a source of merriment was ceasing to exist, and soon disappeared entirely. At 10 years of age children were still very keen, and books of jokes and comic papers were eagerly bought and read.

The affairs of the classroom were found to afford suitable material for the gratification of the sense of humor, as for instance, the case in which the teacher wrote on the blackboard: "Don't throw matches about; remember the Fire of London," which was added by a boy: "Don't spit; remember the Flood." (Laughter.)

The Record Discovers

The period between 11 and 12 years of age appeared to mark quite clearly the parting of the ways, and a sense of humor seemed to disappear entirely. The funny story was of a far more personal nature, the element of superiority ran riot, and children delighted in extravagant stories of stupidity, concerned with adults rather than themselves. Stories involving a smart, but often rude, retort appeared at this age, and to illustrate his point Dr. Kimmins mentioned the teacher who told a stupid boy that when Lloyd George was his age, he was top of the school, to which the boy replied that, when Lloyd George was at the teacher's age, he was Prime Minister. (Laughter.)

In the period from 13 to 15 years of age it was more difficult to generalize. There appeared to be, however, very clear evidence that the revival of humor as it is in the case of girls and 14 in the case of boys was well maintained. In the selection of funny stories by the children a much larger percentage came from the works of well-known writers. W. W. Jacobs and Ian Hay's stories were popular, and of individual stories "Three Men in a Boat," "Daddy Long-legs," "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," "The Young Visiters," "Gun Sawyer" and "Alice in Wonderland" were much quoted. The children's home, said the lecturer, had a great influence on the choice and variety of stories, whereas the very poor child relied on the school and the comic papers for his selections.

Children often laughed at stories which they did not understand because others laughed, and many instances occurred during this investigation of children repeating stories of which clearly they had not grasped the point. For instance, the story was told of a man who was boasting of his mountaineering experience, and a friend said, "I suppose you saw Ben Nevis?" "No," he said, "I called on him, but he was not in." A child told that as a funny story, but instead of Ben Nevis said Snowdon. Some of the so-called mistakes in children were, Dr. Kimmins continued, manufactured by adults; for instance, calling the children of the Year "Twinsies" and the tribes of the Nile "Juveniles." (Laughter.)

The opinion was held by many educators that it was possible to increase the sense of humor in the ordinary

FARMING IN ENGLAND

Mr. S. F. Edge, the well-known motorist whose scientific farming in Sussex has given him almost equal rank as an agriculturist, says that under present conditions farming in England does not pay. He has offered to turn over to a committee of his farm workers farms worth £20,000 and, leaving their management entirely in their hands, see if they can "make them pay."

"This year," he says, "the average farmer lost money. Forced by a falling market, he has had to pay wages out of capital. Thus grazers have been losing from £10 to £15 per head of stock. Actually this year it pays me better to feed my stock on wheat than to sell the wheat."

"After keeping his sheep for two years, the farmer gets a shilling a pound for the mutton which the butcher sell for 2s 6d a pound, making his 150 per cent profit in a week. On most farming land I can today only trace a profit on pigs."

"With prices of farm produce falling so fast that the cost of production is more than the price for which the animals or crops can sell, the farmer is faced with this situation: Unless he can reduce production costs, either he must give up farming while he has still something left, or go bankrupt."

To reduce costs he must reduce wages or reduce the number of his employees. But even such reductions will not allow him to remain in business unless all his employees are in earnest that he shall succeed. Unless all agricultural workers are prepared to give of their best, agriculture generally will fail, and that quickly. Until everybody on a farm regards a bad time-keeper as a thief, we shall never attain efficiency."

Rinso

Just Soak the Clothes in Rinso Suds—then Rinse

It's not a cake soap—not a chip soap—not a washing powder, but a wonderful new form of soap—in granules—which washes clothes immaculately clean—gleaming white—without either rubbing or boiling.

These pure granules are so rich in cleansing value that they loosen the hardest dirt while the clothes soak for a few hours. Yet Rinso is so harmless that it doesn't even redden your hands.

It seems almost unbelievable

cleans so easily. Just soak the clothes for a few hours in the pure, rich, cleansing Rinso suds—then rinse a few times in either warm or cold water and they are as clean and white as though you had boiled and rubbed them for hours. One trial will convince you.

Try RINSO Next Monday

Follow the easy directions on the Rinso package and see how it soaks out the dirt that you used to get out by main force.

If you have a washing machine—

Soak the clothes overnight in the usual Rinso way. The cleansing suds loosen every bit of dirt. In the morning operate the machine for a few minutes and the clothes are perfectly clean—even the most soiled spots.

The "Pattullo Mission"

Sir:—"Pattullo Puts Lumber Into World's Markets; Capitalists Look to B.C." That is how the Victoria Daily Times heralds the Minister of Lands' defence of his journey. Mr. Pattullo has again blown his horn, but not a note from it has responded to the query: What did he do in London that cannot be done by the costly staff kept there for the purpose of advertising and promoting the trade of this Province?

The first excuse he made for his absence from his own duties, and interfering with those of others, was that the exportation of lumber from this Province had increased from 49,364,000 feet in 1911 to 293,771,000 feet in the first nine months of this year.

Now if this increase had occurred after a visit he had paid to London in 1911 he might even then with very doubtful reason have claimed some credit for it, but as the increase preceded his educational tour to tell the British people that they did not know the uses of the timber they were so extensively importing we may now look for a considerable falling off in orders as a consequence of his ill-timed interference and impudence. Did he dare to go before the British institutions of naval architects, civil and mechanical engineers and tell them that they did not know the uses of B.C. timber? He tells us he began by telling it to "young school children."

The second reason for his journey was that a campaign of education was just as necessary in England as in Ontario. How matters stand in Ontario the writer of this does not know, but he does know that in England are scientifically equipped laboratories rivaling in cost the $600,000 court house (which the Minister of Lands presented to his constituents at the public's expense), where all kinds of material from all parts of the world are tested and recommended for use on their merits, not from party political considerations. For more years than Mr. Pattullo knows the tests of every known commercial timber in the world have been published in technical text and handbooks. If B.C. timber was unknown till recently in London, then it should be a cause for inquiry into the neglect of duty of our Lumber Commissioner and the Agent-General. By complimenting these officials on their efficiency, Mr. Pattullo has given himself the lie. A pavement of eggs is solidly compared with the pathway of a prevaricator. The hard work to get on the Admiralty lists, which he desired to take credit for, consists in submitting samples of any materials you may wish them to use, which, after having passed proper tests, you will be put on the Admiralty lists and included in their specifications where suitable, and orders will follow if prices are right and guarantees given for the fulfilment of contract.

As this is getting too long, the Immigration bill will, with your permission, as the Premier says, be dealt with later on.

There is this much to Mr. Pattullo's credit: He told the Legislature that "he had talked to men in London who had talked about the possibilities of establishing industries here," but he did not say whether the Agent-General had told him that he had talked with people who had been told by somebody that he had talked with people about it, which is disappointing just as it was getting interesting. Why is it, Mr. Editor, that The Victoria Times, whose slogan used to be "economy and death to cabinet joyriders," now taken for its text, "Pattullo be praised and the public be damned," Lord Dunsford might well say, "there are some things no feller can understand," and it certainly is so in this case, unless The Times is playing the part of a political pimp and pandering. The real reason for the Pattullo mission will not be before long. When the Recording Angel took note of Mr. Pattullo's defence he must have felt sure that by his typewriter and taking out a machine gun to clean up the lot.

It made a good many trips to the well and it came back in good order.

"I can take care of myself," it said—"they don't need to talk about risks to me."

But it went once too often.

After that it was only part of a pitcher, and they didn't need to talk to it about risks—it knew.

A lot of people won't believe tea or coffee can harm them until it does harm them.

"Nonsense!" they say, "it never disturbs me."

When it does disturb them, then they know.

Often the disturbance which they then recognize is the result of irritations to nerves and digestion which have been going on for a long time.

If you have to lie awake at night and count the clock ticks, after an evening cup of tea or coffee, then you know that it's better to be safe than sorry.

The risk of tea or coffee's harm is gone when the meal-time drink is Postum.

Here's a delightful and satisfying table beverage, with charm for the taste and without harm for nerves or digestion. You know you're on the right road with Postum; there's never the possibility that you'll go once too often.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in package) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared, made by boiling for 20 minutes.

MR. H. C. HALL RETURNS FROM TRIP TO ENGLAND

Says Conditions in Great Britain Slowly Improving—Unemployment and Irish Situation Chief Interests

That business conditions in England are gradually improving and will be much better in the Spring, is the opinion expressed by Mr. H. C. Hall, who returned to the city from a business trip to the Old Country yesterday. "The unemployment situation has held the centre of the stage in London and the provinces for some time," declared Mr. Hall to The Colonist yesterday afternoon, "and there has been much more in the demonstrations that have been held in various cities than has been reported in Canada."

The splendid work of the Metropolitan police during the recent unemployment demonstration in London was highly commended by Mr. Hall. Their control of the vast throngs of paraders was "short of wonderful," he said. Some of the demonstrations in Manchester and other provincial cities, though not as large as that of London, were more riotous and dangerous.

First Visit to England
This was Mr. Hall's first visit to England and his impressions of the Old Country are very fresh and pleasant. "I was especially struck with the green and garden-like appearance of the country, and the beauty of the trees. Several times I went down into Suffolk and I think the country very beautiful," he said.

Referring to the city of London, Mr. Hall said that he did not think it was as impressive in some ways as New York, but there is an atmosphere of greatness about it that is not found in the American metropolis.

He said that Mr. John Burns' answer to some American visitors who belittled the Thames about describes the feeling one has about London best. The Yankers were comparing the Mississippi and the Thames. "The Mississippi is muddy water only and the St. Lawrence is only water," said Burns, "but the Thames is liquid history."

One does not find the great height of buildings in London, but one cannot help being impressed with the mighty volume of commerce that sweeps through the British capital, Mr. Hall said.

Considerable soreness rankles in business circles in the Old Land, Mr. Hall says, because of the decision of the Grand Trunk Railway case. People over there think they have been dealt with mightily shabbily in the matter. He is of the opinion that it will be necessary for the Canadian Government to be generous in the matter some time in future.

Agent-General's Good Work
Mr. Hall thinks that the British Columbia Agent-General, P. C. Wade, in London is doing a valuable work for the Province. He is never idle and no opportunity for furthering the interests of the Province seems to escape him.

In the matter of business and finance, Mr. Hall says, there is one feature that we do not realize in this country, and which is a handicap to trade development there, that is the fact that in all other European countries the pound, instead of being at a discount as it is here, is at a premium and this enables manufacturers in Belgium and other countries to under-bid their English competitors, by some cases by as much as fifty per cent.

Up to the time Mr. Hall left London the weather was so remarkably warm for the time of the year that it was a first social success on Tuesday evening last. In spite of the stormy weather all who attended had a very pleasant time. The club now numbers thirty-four members. The prize winners were Mrs. George McMillen, Mrs. Macleod, Mr. W. Crossley and Mr. V. Hemm. Consolation prizes were won by Mrs. Roy Griffiths, Mrs. E. Forster, Mrs. George Dickson and Mrs. Wesley Cowell. Mrs. Tester, the president of the club, wishes to say that at the end of the season all proceeds of the fundy expenses will be used for some charitable purpose.

Mr. V. Copeman, of Victoria, will speak at the meeting of the United Farmers of British Columbia at the Central Road Schoolhouse this evening, October 28, and a good attendance is hoped for.

Several day boatmen were in grave difficulties on Tuesday last on account of the storm and had very hard work reaching land. Mr. Skeene, of Sidney Island, had to land twice when he was trying to rescue his launch, which had broken from its moorings. One launch was taken into Shoal Harbor and anchored near Reservoir, the men who were in it having great trouble in getting to land. The water has seldom been so rough as it was on Tuesday.

Hall said that it was of course of paramount importance over there that everyone who is interested in the results of the meetings. Feeling runs very high on both sides of the questions involved in England. Mr. Hall did not find time to do very much sightseeing because of his business interests while in England, but he has brought away many pleasant memories of the country.

The return journey to Canada was made on the C.P.R. steamer Minnedoma, and Mr. Hall said it was one of the pleasantest experiences of his trip. A well-known English opera company was on board, "Beggars' Opera Company," which is to make a tour of Canadian and American cities, and which will later visit Victoria.

A concert was given by members of the company in the dining saloon, on October 19, and a printed programme of the affair which Mr. Hall brought back with him shows his name as the head and chairman. He says that the people of Victoria have a musical treat in store for them when this company reaches the city.

Asked how Victoria looks to him after a sojourn away, Mr. Hall said, "Might good. It feels nice to be back home again."

BID FAREWELL TO FELLOW ROTARIAN

Mr. A. T. Purser, of Sir John Jackson (Canada) Hotel, Tells Rotary Club Regrets Departure

Mr. A. T. Purser was yesterday tendered a farewell by his fellow members of the Rotary Club at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel. President Lester Patrick announced Mr. Purser's approaching departure for England, and Mr. Purser responded briefly to the ovation which greeted the mentioning of his name.

He has never regretted anything more than my departure from Victoria and the necessity to leave behind so many true friends," said Mr. Purser. "I will do my best to return some day."

About twelve years ago Mr. Purser came to Canada with the great British engineering firm of Sir John Jackson (Canada), Ltd., and since the completion of the Ogden dam, by that contract by that concern he has been representing the Sir John Jackson interests here. Owing to a breakdown in health, he has been forced to leave his work for the past few months, and he is leaving for England next Sunday to cross the Atlantic on the Megantic.

During his stay in Victoria, Mr. Purser, who took a great interest in the Ladies' Guild of the Seamen's Institute and also the King's Daughters, and their own Norman, he was well known in swimming circles.

On their arrival in England Mr. Purser and his family will live in London.

DEMONSTRATE "RUSH JOB" TO ROTARIANS

Mr. Clifford Denham Is Accidental Victim of Speed Mania of New Method Laundry—Service Convincing

Mr. A. Howard-Gibbon had hardly finished telling Rotarians about the lightning-like methods of the New Method Laundry yesterday at the club's luncheon in the Empress Hotel, when Rotarian Cliff Denham called his bluff.

"How long would it take to wash my shirt?" asked Mr. Denham.

"Three days; or if you're in a hurry, we could do it while you wait."

"All right, then, I'll wait," announced Mr. Denham, and he proceeded to remove his fancy multi-colored garment. He handed it to Mr. L. D. McLean, manager of the New Method Laundry, who in turn passed it along to a messenger.

"You won't have to wait long," assured Mr. McLean. "Just remember your laundry mark, that's all."

Mr. Denham, staring about his neck a muffled borrowed from Rotarian Clarence B. Deville, and with his overcoat collar turned up, waited. Half an hour later, pacing up and down the floor of the New Method Laundry's big plant on North Park Street, he was still waiting. Down in the office Manager McLean was tearing his hair between telephone inquiries. Upstairs, Secretary-Treasurer Howard-Gibbon was showing the Rotarians around the works and trying to direct attention from the anxious and uncomfortable Mr. Denham.

And while all this was happening, a young man in messenger's livery was sitting in the Empress Hotel holding a paper containing a fancy, multi-colored shirt. Somehow he had got his signals crossed.

But the incident did not prevent the New Method Laundry from giving a convincing demonstration of its fast service. When he had given up hope of ever seeing the Denham shirt again, Mr. McLean picked out the best he could find in the "unclaimed" pile of dirty shirts.

"This'll do," he said, and handed the shirt to a member of the laundry staff. In fifteen and one-half minutes the garment passed through a fancy, half a dozen washing and pressing processes and came out quite nicely starched and ironed. Rotarians saw the job rushed through in astonishment. Mr. Denham was impressed by the speed.

Such is the tale of a shirt! Mr. Howard-Gibbon told the rest of the story about Victoria's laundries. He said that in this city there are three steam laundries, employing 156 persons, with a capital investment of $182,500, and yearly payroll of $157,000. Yearly production is estimated at $250,000. Supplies, most of which were bought here, cost over $65,000.

"In competition with these establishments," said Mr. Howard-Gibbon, "we have thirty-seven Chinese laundries, with a payroll that can be gauged more readily in cents than in dollars, working under conditions that are far from sanitary, whose employees are not far removed from galleys slaves, working all hours until their bond has been redeemed. The taxes these institutions will be liable for a dollar many times amount only to the personal property tax exacted on their supplies of drugs. Yet they are patronized by many of our so-called business and professional men solely for the cheapness of their service, which is roughly about 20 per cent below that of power laundries. Respectable white labor can never compete with the Chinese, who are Oriental and this 'peaceful penetration' may even invade every branch of business before many years roll by.

Well Equipped Plants Here
"I believe that steam laundries here in Victoria possess amongst their workers a more intelligent and superior type collectively, than many other lines of industry. Before engaging any employees, we make searches the chapmen concerning their previous business experience and behavior, and in this way protect the high standard existent.

"They work in modern, well lit and sanitary buildings, and of course the female workers are protected by the Minimum Wage Board in regard to a minimum wage. The average weekly wage paid in the Victoria laundries is $19.20 (exclusive of administration). "Present day collars if not worn will stand twenty-four washes before showing evidence of wear, but when worn and stained with perspiration, will only stand twelve to sixteen washes. They are never pure linen, as they were five or six years ago, (good table linen should stand 100 to 150 trips to the laundry). But good linen is unobtainable at any price today.

Pure Fabric Law
"A National Pure Fabric Law, if enforced, would be as beneficial to the general public as the present National Pure Food Law, and is a very desirable law.

"No industry in the country is more in keeping with Rotary's slogan, 'Service,' than the steam laundry. And for every dollar's worth of 'service' they sell, let me quote you the cost that the industry here in Victoria: "Productive labor, 32.5 per cent; indirect labor, 6.5 per cent; power plant labor, 4 per cent; delivery labor, 15 per cent; executive labor, 4.5 per cent; office labor, 3.5 per cent; total labor, 64.5 per cent. Supplies, 17.3 per cent; insurance 1.5 per cent; fuel, 1.5 per cent; plant repairs, 1.1 per cent; miscellaneous, 1 per cent; total $4.6 per cent.

"Since July, 1914, productive labor cost had increased 65 per cent, supplies 123 per cent (which is much lower than six months ago), machinery around 110 per cent; cost of living 50 per cent. Still the cost of laundry service in Victoria has only risen 18 per cent. The charge on a collar has risen 65 per cent, on shirts 30 per cent, underclothing 20 per cent, on most ladies' apparel there has been no increase, while several household flat articles, such as towels are laundered for less today than they were in 1914."

CITY HOTEL KEEPER APPEALS CONVICTION

John Ferguson, Gordon Hotel, on Trial in County Court on Charge of Having Liquor for Sale Last Summer

Appealing from a judgment by Mr. Alexis Martin, sitting as temporary stipendiary magistrate in the City Police Court last August, as a result of which John Ferguson, of the Gordon Hotel, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment on a conviction of having liquor for sale in the hotel, the defendant came up for trial before His Honor Judge Laing, sitting in the County Criminal Court yesterday. The case for the prosecution consumed the entire session of the court, and the trial was adjourned until this morning.

The case for the Crown, as presented by City Prosecutor Harrison, was given in the evidence of Chief of Police John Fry, and of H. E. Craig and Charles E. Brown, two special policemen employed by the chief during the summer to work on liquor cases.

In brief, the evidence showed that Chief Fry sent Craig and Brown to the Gordon Hotel, where, as they testified, they were supplied with beer and whisky by the defendant, for which liquor they paid 25 cents a drink.

At nine o'clock in the evening of August 13, Craig and Brown, having then been in the hotel for nearly an hour, Chief Fry and a squad of city police raided the place, and found in various of its rooms 18 dozen bottles of beer, 12 dozen of whisky and gin. Ferguson showed him a liquor permit, and offered no resistance to the search, testified the chief. Craig and Brown swore that while they were there six or seven men came into the hotel and were served with drink.

At the hour of adjournment, Mr. R. C. Lowe, defending the accused, was speaking to a motion for dismissal on two grounds: first, that there could be no presumption of guilt against the accused on the uncorroborated evidence of the two special policemen, who said Mr. Lowe was self-confessed stool pigeons; and secondly, that the Government Liquor Act, under the provisions of which the charge was laid, had not been shown by the prosecution to be operative.

Mr. Lowe argued that the Act had purported to come into operation by virtue of a proclamation by the Lieutenant-Governor, acting in his own proper person; whereas, said counsel, it had actually been proclaimed by order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

His Honor Judge Laing, after a brief deliberation, dismissed the case.

What's at the Playhouses?

COLUMBIA Francis McDonald, a theatre good actor, can testify to the truth of the statement that a bear as an opponent in mortal combat is a bad actor. He had an honest-to-goodness fight with a husky of the Bruno tribe and he knows whereof he speaketh. This experience came as a part of his lot in the role of a villain in James Oliver Curwood's sensational photo-drama, "Nomads of the North," which is booked for a showing at the Columbia Theatre today and the balance of the week. As the disturbing factor in the plot of the story, McDonald finally catches the heroine (Betty Blythe) all alone in her lonely cabin away out in the woods of the Far North, and when he proceeds to gain his revenge for her wedding another man, her husband's pet bear, Newsa, breaks into the house and accomplishes a spectacular rescue by engaging McDonald in a fight closely resembling the man-to-man battles often seen on the screen, but much fiercer and more exciting. McDonald fought for all he was worth—he simply had to, because though it was only make-believe on his part, it was not possible to hold a bear very much in check. "I thought I was going to stage a 'play' scrap and the bear got serious, then I had to dig in and really cut with the big brute, but I got hurt instead," McDonald said soon after the picture was completed. "And let me add just one thing more, an unarmed man in a flesh-and-blood fight with a bear has no chance in the world—he's sure headed for the other world."

ROYAL "The Idle Glass," Charles Chaplin's latest production for Associated First National release, is to be shown at the Royal Victoria Theatre again today. "The Idle Glass" contains many features not hitherto seen in Chaplin comedies. While Charles appears in many of the scenes clad in his regular attire, later, he dons the garments of a gentleman of leisure and doubles in a number of scenes. But still later Charles can be seen in a suit of armor, while at a masquerade. He finds it rather cumbersome and disadvantageous, especially when the visor that he is trying to imitate a knight, but nevertheless, later in the evening he is thankful to the fate that he is wearing the steel and iron. For the husband of the handsome young dame with whom he is in love, discovers that the armor is impervious to his fist. There is a surprise finish to the comedy, also. And at the end Charles is shown in a tuxedo in a remarkable hurry, with 400 pounds of enraged wrath galloping behind him. In addition to Charles Chaplin, Charles Ray will be shown in one of his latest pictures, "A Midnight Bell." This picture illustrates life in a small town with a remarkable degree of fidelity, and demonstrates the power of the kind can be as interesting as one based on metropolitan existence. "A Midnight Bell" contains all the elements of a perfect picture. The musical attraction this week will be Miss Ivy Holt in songs selected.

DOMINION Monte M. Katterjohn, who adapted E. Phillips Oppenheim's story, "The Great Impersonation," at the Dominion Theatre all week, declares the story is one of the most entertaining he has done in a long time. Ann Forrest has the leading feminine role. "It is one of those stories," says Katterjohn, "which you can't drop, once you start reading, until you have finished it. It holds you spellbound by its imaginative quality and by the breathless suspense resultant from the dramatic situations that follow rapidly one upon another. Furthermore, it covers a wide field, with scenes in numerous foreign lands." E. Phillips Oppenheim is one of the most popular of British authors and his tales dealing with international intrigue and diplomatic mysteries are well known everywhere.

CAPITOL Motion pictures have THEATRE done more to stimulate a love of good music among American people than anything else they have ever had, according to Douglas MacLean, Thomas H. Ince's popular comedy star. Readers of remote hemispheres are beginning to acquire a liking for high-class operatic airs through hearing them constantly repeated on the pipe organ or piano or by the string orchestra at their nearest motion picture theatre. "I venture to say that the effect of motion picture music will be felt by the next generation," says Mr. MacLean. "Others and mothers are becoming familiar with Il Trovatore, the Settefina from Lucia and the music of Wagner, all because they go to the movies every week and enjoy an interesting screen story. They become interested in certain musical selections, want to know the composer, then investigate further and begin to consider giving their children musical education." Mr. MacLean's latest Paramount comedy, "The Home Stretch," will be the feature at the Capitol Theatre again today. Beatrice Burnham is the leading woman.

Harrington, a cafe proprietor, by federal authorities today, is said by the authorities to have disclosed information that he is the head of an alleged liquor smuggling ring that has brought whisky valued at more than $500,000 into the State from British Columbia.
Robert H. McCormack, assistant United States attorney-general, said the grand jury evidence against Harrington showed that he aided in directing the operations of a ring of supposed whisky runners who brought liquor from Vancouver, B.C., to Half Moon Bay, south of here; Monterey and San Luis Obispo.
Tom Murphy, owner of the motor boat Tree Montana, testified before the grand jury that he used the boat to bring Canadian liquor from a point three miles off the American shore, near Vancouver, to California points, McCormack said. Fishing boats also were utilized by the alleged ring, he said.

LITTLE "In the Queen's Service" THEATRE continues to please all most capably houses at The Little Theatre. So much attention has been paid to detail in the production of this play that the result is a performance of a very high order, and many compliments are being received by the members of this enterprising society. The work of the cast in this play is deserving of particular mention, inasmuch as it is a departure from the usual run of plays produced by the society. Mr. R. N. Hincks has again proved himself a past master of the art of production in his staging of this piece, and all those who have seen it are enough to have witnessed it acclaim it one of the best ever put on in Victoria. While the play is primarily an amateur organization, it has in many instances risen above that stage and presented plays which rival the best professional companies. This is particularly true in this instance. The work of such well-known and popular the actors as Mr. Fred Bell, Eileen Allwood, Alex McPhillips and R. N. Webb, which the leading parts, is of such a high order as to place them in the professional category.

"In the Queen's Service" will be repeated tonight and Saturday night for the last time. Lovers of romance should avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing this very thrilling play before the last performance Saturday night. Seats are on sale at Kent's during the day and at the Little Theatre evenings.

WOLF-DOG LEAPS TO LONE GIRL'S RESCUE IN THRILLING SCENE

The killing of "Black" McCready by the half-savage wolf-dog who wreaks revenge for the murder of his master, is said to be one of the most thrilling scenes in the screen version of "The Wolf-Dog," which comes to the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday next. The dog "Kanan," hearing the screams of a girl, a human who has befriended him, jumps to the aid of his master, the tent, in which McCready has found the girl. With a flying leap at the girl's feet, he sinks his fangs into the throat of the girl's assailant, the slayer of Jim Redman, of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, who has been slain with his life. Jane Novak as Joan Redman, the girl, has the leading feminine role, and Beh Deley enacts the part of the hero. Edwin Walcott interprets the character of "Black" McCready.

"CAMILLE" UP TO DATE BY NAZIMOVA AT DOMINION MONDAY

"Camille," the Nazimova production, which will be seen on Monday at the Dominion Theatre, where it is scheduled for a run of six days, has been modernized for the screen in an adaptation by June Mathis, who wrote the scenario for the Metro-Grey productions for Metro of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and "The Conquering Power." In playing the Dumas heroine, Nazimova follows the tradition what has led nearly all of the great actresses to give it a place in their repertoire; the tradition of Bernhardt, Eleanora Duse, Clara Morris, Helene Modjeska, Laura Keane, Olga Nethersole and Ethel Barrymore.

In Rudolph Valentino, the dashing young actor who plays the role of Armand Duval, Nazimova has a leading man of brilliant gifts who has won much praise for his remarkable performances in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" as Julia Desnoyers, and in "The Conquering Power," as Charles Grandet.

In addition to Rudolph Valentino, Nazimova's supporting cast includes Edward Connelly, Rex Cherryman, Arthur Hoyt, Zella Tibbels, Ruth Miller, Constance Trowerton, Mrs. Oliver and William Orlamond.

A feature of "Camille" is the manner in which the stage settings have been designed; they follow the modern school in evoking the atmosphere and moods of the plot.

A cast of exceptional merit will be seen in Maurice Tourneur's production of "The Foolish Matrons," which will be the feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre starting Monday, October 31. There is no single heroine appearing in the story, which deals with the lives of three women each with her own ideals of life and marriage. Doris May will be seen as the girl who comes from a small town, only to be caught in the whirlpool of bright lights and jazz. Mildred Manning will interpret the role of a city reporter, whose ambition to become a successful journalist dominates her entire being. Kathleen Kirkham as a celebrated Broadway star, will be seen in the role of the girl who later marries and devotes her life to Dr. Fraser, the part played by Hobart Bosworth; while the remainder of the cast contains such well remembered names as Betty Schade, Margaret McWade, Charles Meredith, Wallace MacDonald, Michael Dark and little Frankie Lee.

Science Proves the Danger of Bleeding Gums

Medical science proves that unhealthy gums cause serious ailments. People suffering from Pyorrhea (a disease of the gums) often suffer from other ills, such as rheumatism, anaemia, nervous disorders, or weakened vital organs. These ills have been traced in many cases to the Pyorrhea germs which breed in pockets about the teeth.

Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea. It begins with tender and bleeding gums. Then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the infecting Pyorrhea germs.

Guard your health and your teeth. Keep Pyorrhea away. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection, and make daily use of Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress—if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's will keep the gums firm and healthy, the teeth white and clean.

JAPANESE DELEGATES TO ARRIVE TONIGHT

Liner Kashima Maru, Bringing the Washington Conference Party, Will Reach Here About 10 o'clock

The N. Y. K. steamship Kashima Maru, bearing the Japanese delegation to the disarmament conference at Washington, will reach quarantine at William Head at nine o'clock tonight, according to a wireless message from the incoming liner last night. The customary quarantine regulation requiring vessels arriving after sunset to anchor until sunrise for inspection will be waived in this instance as an act of international courtesy on the part of the Canadian Government. The Kashima will be boarded by the doctors as soon as she reaches the station, and should be granted pratique in time to pass in and tie up at the Outer Wharf shortly after ten o'clock, perhaps a little later.

Admission to the dock while the ship is in port here will be strictly by pass, issued by W. R. Dale, local agent for the Nippon Yusen Kaisha. It is not expected that the vessel will be here for more than one or two hours before proceeding to Seattle.

The Kashima has been keeping the British Columbia wireless stations very busy during her voyage from Yokohama. All the messages sent out from the vessel have been transmitted by the Canadian stations, which are the most accessible to ships following the great circle route from the Orient. Even condensed as the messages have been, they have furnished a great volume of business for the stations.

CO-OPERATION IN BRITISH INDUSTRY

London Engineering

After a successful run of three weeks, the Shipping, Machinery and Engineering Exhibition at Olympia was closed recently, the eve of its closing being marked by a dinner presided over by Captain H. R. H. Sankey, president of the Institution of Mechanical Engineers, and attended by a large number of well-known engineers and others. The purpose of the dinner was to commemorate the successful co-operation of employers and workers as exemplified at the exhibition. The speaker of the evening was made by Mr. W. A. Appleton, the secretary of the General Federation of Trade Unions, who proposed the toast of "Success to the Engineering Industry." It was somewhat difficult, he said, to be optimistic at a time when 550,000 workpeople in the industry were out of employment, but despite our present troubles he was an optimist. During the war, in 1915, he had visited Sheffield—which at that time was somewhat of a storm centre—as a member of a small committee to investigate labor questions. In spite of their sense of grievance, the loyal and unselfish desire of the workmen to aid the country at a crisis had aided him with admiration and, as the speaker very delicately hinted, it had compared very favorably with the attitude of certain employers. He would not believe that the character of British workmen had changed in the interval. The aspiration of the worker was to secure some voice in the control of the conditions of the industry at which he spent his life. All history showed that this could not be secured by forceful revolution. Neither the revolution of a "lucky nation" like the French, nor that of an imaginative and experimental nation like the Russian, has given workers any control of industry. The German workmen, a steady and industrious race, had secured no control of their industries by revolution, and the result of the recent experiment of the impulsive Italians who seized the factories, would be fresh in the minds of all. Mr. Appleton wanted workmen to have the highest real wages and standard of living which could be obtained, but the idea of the fund available for the payment of wages was determined entirely by the value of the production given in return. The price which a purchaser would pay for goods was outside our control. If the British price was too high he would do without the goods or get them elsewhere. Substantially lower prices could not be quoted while rates and taxes were so high and he hoped the question of taxation would be seriously tackled. Mr. T. Chambers, of the National Sailors' and Firemen's Union, in replying to the toast of "Shipping and Commerce," proposed by Mr. W. R. Reavell, M. I. Mech. E., also made a good speech. He said that there was undoubtedly a large and growing section of workmen ready to extend co-operation with the employers in getting trade down to a satisfactory footing. The extremists were not many, but they were active and noisy, and under present conditions of industrial distress they got a hearing which they would not receive in normal times. It was easy for them to pour their poison into the ears of hungry and workless men, who did not know where the next meal for their wives and families was coming from.

CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA

Government everywhere, nothing but government! Such is the impression that a foreigner who has known Moscow of old gets in entering the Bolshevik capital today. All the hotels are government committee headquarters. The same is true of department stores, office buildings, clubs, cafes and large private houses. All theatres are government theatres.

Queues of Russians and foreigners are waiting in the streets before most large buildings for permits to buy railway tickets or perform some ordinary transaction.

The motor cars are all government cars and are monopolized by government employees. The street cars are run by the government, and government employees, especially workmen, have first call on the few cars, which run chiefly at times when workmen are going to or from work. Other folks may take the few carriages which ply the main streets for hire at prices beyond the reach of ordinary government salaries.

Railway trains are few and seem to be crowded largely with government employees and soldiers. Passenger trains far exceed freight trains on all lines and every coach has a red soldier or other dignitary of the government on the train at stations.

Factories which are in operation are run by the government and work chiefly on government supplies, such as railway repairs, motor repairs, airplane repairs and other army supplies.

The Kremlin, formerly the ecclesiastical centre for Russia and the historic shrine about which the Romanoff traditions radiate, is all government. Its churches are closed. Red army soldiers occupy the barracks of the old imperial army and prominent Bolshevik officials occupy the quarters formerly given over to church officials and other dignitaries of the Romanoff regime.

Hospitals and orphanages and schools are run by the government. The government pays for the food of the overflying with employees who want the government food ration, and in consequence there seems to be an excess of personnel in Moscow institutions as well as in the provinces.

Many of the orphanages have nearly as many attendants as they have orphans. The railways seem to be overstuffed. Trains and stations are alive with officials and guards, because of the general quiet that prevails.

Russia always was a document mad, and it seems even worse now than it was under former regimes. Endless rows of employees are busy making documents and reports in nearly every government building. Statisticians are at work everywhere.

Bolshevik officials are not blind to the overstaffing of the departments and the inefficiency of many of the workers. They fill the Moscow and provincial papers with appeals for greater diligence on the part of employees and a reduction of forces not engaged in productive labor. They also complain bitterly of the red tape which slows down all government business and clamor for simplification and decentralization.

But, after all, the railways and telephones and posts are in the same hands they were before Bolshevism triumphed. The men who knew the technique of the various public service organizations had to be recalled very lately. Very few of the make no pretension that they are Communists or even Socialists, and their work is done in an extremely perfunctory manner.

Public Now

Three years have brought about a remarkable change in the attitude of Red army men and all government employees toward the general public. There is a great modification of the accessibility which characterized the early days of the Bolshevik control. In the frenzied first year of Bolshevism, officials seemed to regard everyone who approached them as an enemy. They growled and beranged. From top to bottom officialdom was nervous, irritable and generally unpleasant to deal with.

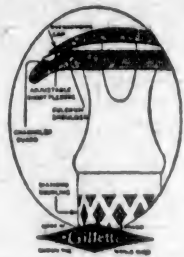

This spirit has disappeared, to a very large degree. The success of the government in overthrowing its adversaries has given a feeling of security and it now functions much as other governments do. Queue messengers, bureau chiefs and higher officials are more cordial. Bolshevik legations abroad also reflect this changed attitude to a marked degree. White collars are no longer banned. Black leather coats are not regarded as the only suitable uniform for a Bolshevik official. Experienced minor officials of the old regime have been restored to their places in many of the offices and their example has greatly modified the brusque manners of the soldier, sailor and workman element which originally monopolized most of the government posts.

The next best thing to shaving with a New Improved Gillette is seeing it. The Gillette dealer you have always known will be pleased to show it to you.

NOTE—One of the first things to strike the user of the New Improved Gillette is its simplicity.

Most men prefer to screw the handle up tight to get the most satisfactory shave.

The Gillette Blade and Gillette Razor are developed to work together. No Gillette Blade can deliver its full shaving quality unless used in a genuine Gillette Razor—built by Gillette, in the Gillette way and up to Gillette standards.

on the short grass, amid the last of the thyme and scabious and ladies' bed-straw, I saw him stoop over a heap at the end of a row. A moment later a puff of smoke went up from the heap; then a fierce little flame; and then a strong, steady column of smoke.

From the top of that heap the man took on his fork a pinch of the burning weed. It glowed red as he strode swiftly to the next heap and laid it on the top. When that was alight he went on to the next; and for half-an-hour I lay, fascinated, watching him touch each heap to flame with fire taken from the heap before it. Now the slow, gentle breath of the drowsing earth wafted the smoke westward, down the river valley, past the castle, seawards. Now there was no breathing, and the smoke hung still in the air; and now it would curl with a generous sweep seaward up the valley, to hang on the sloping upland of the Downs. And sometimes on the edge of it, the tiny firebearer went to and fro, transforming at a touch what had been a dead, brown heap of weeds into a living force. He seemed now, with his fork and his flames, a little devil, gleefully torturing dead souls into new pain; and now a penitence, carrying ill from body to body, till the whole people should be destroyed; and now Prometheus, bringing fire to earth for the good of man.

Prometheus had it in the end. The work was not destructive, but creative. What he burned was old stuff that had served its turn. Soon it would be clear ash, to be scattered over the brown field to lighten and to purify the soil. Fire, beneficent when it warms or cooks, can be beneficent too when it destroys in order to create. And if only in idea and in convention, as in farming, we could set to work at the proper times, to destroy the dead stuff, and could use the ashes to purify the future—

But the turf was very soft, and the air very sweet, and the view very wide and gracious. I soon grew tired of moralling. It was enough to lie there and watch the smoke shrouding, like folding twilight, the tired earth, as in the Autumn stillness she falls with a smile asleep. After the harsh, bright Summer the shrouded colors, the soft lines, the soothing haze are sweet to the mind and the senses. And, as I came over the ridge on the homeward way, I noticed, far and near in the wide world below me, the smoke of wood fires blurring all the country-side in its gradual fall to slumber.—London Times.

Family History

Thomas Coutts, founder of the famous banking house, married first Elizabeth Starkey, by whom he had three daughters. Each made a splendid marriage. One became Countess of Guildford, another wife of the Marquess of Bute, and the third married Sir Francis Burdett. Mrs. Coult died in 1815, and Mr. Coult soon thereafter married Harriot Mellor.

The celebrated actress, to whom his death in 1822 he left his great fortune. Five years later she married the ninth Duke of St. Albans and at her death in 1837 the whole of the Coutts fortune passed to Mrs. Angela Coutts (youngest daughter of Sir Francis Burdett), who assumed the additional name of Coutts. In 1871 she was created Baroness Burdett-Coutts as a reward for her great services in the cause of charity.

The merest summary of the Burdett-Coutts art and literary treasures can be given. The Baroness, who was almost wholly responsible their acquisition, collected at a time when prices were trifling compared with those of today. For example, she purchased the first folio Sha...

In the same year she paid £44 for the Daniel impression of the first issue (1640) of Shakespeare's "Poems"—in New York recently a copy fetched $3,000. A second copy of the first issue, which Sir Sidney Lee placed in Cambridge, is in one respect not less valuable than the other. Acquired in 1650 by Ralph Sheldon, the volume
